Graf Zeppelin In Grave Danger As She Struggles To Find Landing Place

Giant Liner Turned Back by Motor Trouble, Seeks to Make Safe Haven In Teeth of Strong Winds Gets Permission to Land on French Soil — Apparently Unable to Cope With Winds, Is Being Driven Eastward

Le Bourget, France, May 17 (AP).—Crippled and in the grip of violent winds, the trans-Atlantic airliner Graf Zeppelin was in serious danger late today as she struggled futilely to reach some safe haven in southeastern France.

The huge ship, which carried a crew of forty and eighteen passengers, including Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York, was being swept eastward from the Rhone Valley toward the barren foothills of the French Alps.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ship, wirelessed numerous appeals for permission to land at Valence. The permission was immediately wirelessed back but the dirigible did not answer and was last reported over Saillans, eighteen miles southeast of Valence, still being driven further eastward toward the Alps.

Reports Ship Damaged, In Danger.

Dr. Eckener himself reported that the ship had suffered grave damage and was in serious danger.

French aviation authorities, greatly concerned for the safety of the Graf Zeppelin, advised him to head for the town of Cuers near Toulon on the Mediterranean coast where a special landing mast was available. The mast had served for the French dirigible Dixmude; later lost in a storm.

Fighting for Its Life.

As twilight began to fall it was just 36 hours after the departure of the huge airliner on its second voyage to the United States. In the midst of the gathering dusk the ship was fighting for its life with two of its engines crippled and its three remaining motors apparently unable to even direct it against the elements.

Doubt if Ship Received Message

After advising Dr. Eckener by wireless to head toward Toulon, the French authorities made every effort to get a reply from him, but when no word had been received late this afternoon it was problematical whether he had received the message.

Meanwhile the officials of the air and interior ministries held a conference regarding measures to assist the distressed airliner. Representatives were sent to the various points where the Zeppelin was reported for the purpose of giving every aid if needed.

Prepare Emergency Anchor Mast

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 17 (AP).—An emergency anchor mast was being feverishly prepared at the new Lowenthal Flying Field, two miles from here, for the dirigible Graf Zeppelin this afternoon.

With the velocity of the wind increasing hourly, Ludwig Duer, constructor of the Zeppelin, feared that it might prove impossible to effect a landing on the narrow field of the airship's regular hangar.

This is the first anchor mast ever put into service here.

No hope was held at Friedrichshafen this afternoon that the dirigible could reach home without landing somewhere tonight.

Broken Crankshafts, Says Message

By Frank E. Nicholson

Aboard the Graf Zeppelin, by radio and cable to the Columbia Broadcasting Company, May 17 (AP).—Battling our way back to Friedrichshafen, two of our five motors now dead. Broken crankshafts.

Varied emotions among the passengers. Some anxious to get back and upon landing those to cancel passage. Others and officers realize this incident proves lighter-than-air craft practical even with wrecked mechanism.

We are making progress and can remain supported indefinitely. Woman passenger displaying real pluck. The gorilla is ill and the pianist is temperamental. New motors wait at Friedrichshafen. Trip be resumed as soon as installed.

Earlier Messages from Ship

(Earlier messages from the Graf Zeppelin were as follows:

By Alexander R. Von Kryha
Written for The Associated Press

Aboard Graf Zeppelin, Enroute Friedrichshafen, May 17, 7:45 a. m. French time (1:45 a. m. E. S. T.) (AP).—With three motors now out of order the Graf Zeppelin is proceeding at greatly reduced speed against strong headwinds. We hope to be in Marseilles toward noon. Friedrichshafen only by night. All is calm on board.

We have flown over Saint Mariens and are flying now in the direction of Lyons. Our speed is about 35 miles an hour, and elevation about 1,600 feet.

Time of our arrival at Friedrichshafen is at present uncertain as it seems dependent upon the wind. All the passengers as well as "Susi" the gorilla are well.

(By Alexander R. Von Kryha, written for the Associated Press.)

Aboard Graf Zeppelin, en route Friedrichshafen, May 17 (11:20 a. m.) (AP).—Crossing French territory and flying in the direction of Lyons, the Graf Zeppelin is now making only twenty kilometres an hour against a sixty kilometre wind. Three motors are now in use and the landing is expected tomorrow.

The passengers are lining the windows discussing the arrival at Friedrichshafen. Many are constantly receiving wireless messages from relatives and acquaintances.

Legion Claims Vets Violated Pact

To the editor of The Freeman:
Sir:

Since 1920 Kingston Post of the American Legion has held an annual Poppy Day, the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to the relief of disabled or distressed World War veterans and their families. Each year the Post has expended more for relief and welfare than it actually received from the proceeds of Poppy Day. These facts may be proved from the books of the treasurer, which are open for inspection.

During the past few years another organization, composed of veterans of all wars in foreign service, called the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who have recently opened a club house on East Chester street, have also sold poppies.

Last night it was agreed between Roy E. Jacob, commander of the American Legion, and Isaac Trowbridge, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, that neither organization would sell poppies in Kingston until Saturday, May 25, the day which Mayor Dempsey will officially set aside as Poppy Day by proclamation.

Today, the Veterans of Foreign Wars sold poppies in various places in Kingston in violation of this agreement.

The American Legion refuses to allow the spirit of sordid competition to enter into the sale of poppies—a beautiful symbol of the sacrifices of their comrades. The Legion has no wish to "get the jump" on someone else when the relief of its disabled or destitute buddies might be jeopardized by breaking faith with the public.

I therefore wish to make it plain that the American Legion will keep its agreement, which it entered honorably and which it will discharge honorably, and to state that no poppies will be sold by the American Legion in Kingston until Saturday May 25, the day which the Mayor will officially designate as Poppy Day, no matter what any other organization does.

The citizens of Kingston need no reminder of what the American Legion stands for, not only in relief to the disabled, but in real, constructive community work. The American Legion knows that the public will support it whenever it sells poppies.

The Legion simply writes this letter so its friends may know the truth and wait for Poppy Day to buy a poppy.

EDWARD J. HILLIS,
Chairman, American Legion
Poppy Committee.

Damage Reported Here From Wind

Number of Trees Uprooted and Plate Glass Windows Broken—Part of Roof of Simon Lefever House Carried Away.

Damage of considerable extent is reported caused by the wind which visited Kingston and this locality Thursday shortly after noon. A tree in front of the John P. Reading, Jr., property on Maiden Lane was snapped off but caused no further damage. One of the large side windows in the plate glass front of the New York Sample Shop on Wall street was broken. On the Greenkill Road in the town of Rosendale several trees were blown down and from various other points trees are reported uprooted.

Part of the roof of the Simon Lefever house on the Kingston-New Paltz road near New Paltz was carried away by the wind.

Electric light and power service was interrupted for brief periods and many branches were torn from trees, one large branch falling from a tree on the Forsyth property on Pearl at Fair street.

Chicago Gangster Gets Year in Jail In Philadelphia

Never Booked for a Crime or Fingerprinted in His Home Town, But Is Arrested for Gun Toting in Philadelphia and Promptly Indicted.

Philadelphia, May 17 (AP).—Alphonse (Scarface Al) Capone, notorious Chicago gangster, was today sentenced to one year in the county prison on a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

Frank Cline, also of Chicago, Capone's reputed bodyguard was given a similar sentence.

The two men entered Moyamensing Prison at 12:50 p. m.

Capone and Cline arrived here yesterday from Atlantic City. Last night they were picked up leaving a motion picture house by two Philadelphia detectives who were looking over theatre crowds for suspicious characters.

They did not resist arrest and were taken to the central police station in City Hall where they were charged with carrying concealed weapons after a pistol was found on each.

Loaded Revolvers on Each.

Capone greeted one of the detectives with whom he is acquainted, with "Hello Shooey," adding unexpectedly, "yes, I've got a gun." The alleged gang leader and his companion then turned over to the detectives two 38-caliber pistols, both loaded.

A search of Capone yielded an 11-carat diamond said to be worth $25,000. Both he and Cline had large sums of money. They told the authorities they were on their way to Chicago from a short visit to Atlantic City.

Magistrate Carney told them in was sorry he couldn't hold them in even heavier bail.

Lawyer Insisted on Lower Bail.

Bernard L. Lemisch appeared as attorney for Capone and Cline. When his insistent demands for lower bail met with abrupt refusal, Lemisch asked Magistrate Carney "what have you got on Capone?"

"He's a killer," retorted Carney.

"Who did he kill?" queried Lemisch.

Director of Public Safety Schofield thundered "He won't kill anybody for a while now.

As Capone was being led away to his cell he wiped the perspiration from his forehead saying, "This is some city. They work fast here. I've got $10,000 on me, but I'll take this rap, nothing to it."

Never Arrested in Chicago.

Chicago, May 17 (AP).—When Philadelphia police got Al Capone last night for gun toting, locked him in jail over night and "mugged" him for the Rogues' Gallery, they did something which in Capone's home town of Chicago would be a rare thing indeed.

Despite the fact that hardly a gang slaying occurs here without Capone's name being mentioned, Capone has yet to look out from behind Chicago cell bars over night. Detective headquarters here said today that in the years Capone has been a leading gangland figure in Chicago he never had been booked for a crime or photographed or fingerprinted.

Building a Summer Lodge.

Simultaneous with news of Capone's arrest in Philadelphia it was learned that the "Big Shot" of Chicago gangland is having a summer lodge constructed in the Northern Wisconsin woods.

Capone, who gained a fortune and much notoriety by controlling west side gangland for years, has deserted Chicago for the past two winters and has basked in Florida sunshine from October until April. Now it is learned he intends to spend his summers near Couderay, Wis., on Cranberry Lake.

Hunt's Circus Here May 30

Hunt's Three Ring Motorized Circus, of which Charles T. Hunt, formerly of this city, is owner, will visit Kingston on Memorial Day, May 30, and give two performances on the carnival grounds near the Esopus creek bridge. The Hunt circus has been rejuvenated with a new tent and equipment and carries an elephant, lions, and other animals. John Hunt, father of Charles, died some time ago, but Mrs. Hunt still travels with the show although well along in years and is contented when taking the tickets at the main entrance, as she has done for 35 years.

ARRESTED AT SAUGERTIES ON ABANDONMENT CHARGE.

John Hewins Kern was arrested at the town of Saugerties Thursday afternoon by Sergeant James J. Cunningham and Trooper Maish on a warrant issued in New York charging him with abandonment of his wife and family. Kern's family, it is charged, were abandoned at Ridgewood, N. Y. Detective Graban, of the New York department, later arrived in town and took the prisoner back to New York.

Stone Ridge Dance.

The regular Friday night dance will be held at Stone Ridge Grange Hall tonight. Meisenhelder's orchestra will play.

Seven Doctors Offer to Help.

Mrs. W. G. Newkirk, chairman for the Summer Roundup of pre-school children expecting to enter school in the fall, reported that seven local physicians had offered their services in examining those children and a clinic will be held early in June. Three of these physicians prefer to examine the children at the schoolhouse, the others will arrange to examine a certain number each day at their respective offices. The Federated Council voted to furnish a blue ribbon badge to each child who when examined was found 100 per cent. perfect in health so he can start school with no handicaps and receive the most possible benefit from his educational advantages.

Mrs. Thomas Hayes spoke of Camp Happy Land and explained that it was not for sick children as many supposed, but for the purpose of building up the undernourished.

P.-T. A.'s Give Reports.

Reports from all the P.-T. A.'s were called for and given by all except No. 1 and No. 4, which will probably respond later. Neither have as yet held their annual election.

Mrs. W. G. Newkirk, president of No. 2 P.-T. A., gave their report. They started the season with a very successful membership drive. They had the following speakers at meetings: Mrs. A. W. Cleveland Death List Now 125, Will Rebuild Hospital

Fears Still Entertained for Survivors Who Inhaled Noxious Fumes—Officials Believe Explosion Was Caused by Spontaneous Combustion, Heat Being Supplied by Escaping Steam.

Cleveland, May 17 (AP).—The Cleveland Clinic, where 125 persons lost their lives in two explosions of poisonous gases Wednesday, will be rebuilt under plans being formed today by a committee of 35 prominent citizens.

Dr. George W. Crile, one of the founders of the institution and its director, will be at the head of the new Clinic.

"We must go on," he said.

Grief-stricken and overburdened with the tragedy which had come upon him, the surgeon, who gained international renown through goiter research and other medical discoveries, laid plans with the committee for reestablishment of the institution. The loss from the explosions and fire was set today at $750,000, principally in medical records.

The death toll in the explosions mounted last night, and even today it was feared that all those who eventually will succumb to the noxious fumes had not been counted. Three firemen and as many policemen who aided in rescue work went to hospitals last night. Others were ill at their homes, among them Fire Battalion Chief Michael J. Graham.

Search for 75 "Missing" Patients.

Physicians declared, however, that those who survive the next 24 hours probably will not suffer permanent effects from their exposure to the deadly gas. But grave concern was felt for those who were reported injured last night and a search for 75 "missing" patients was started.

One more victim of the poison gas of the Clinic disaster died early today. Ben Jones, 29, fullback on the 1925 Canton, Ohio, Bull Dog football team, and prominent in professional football circles, died at his home in Grove City, Pa.

Jones was one of the first persons removed from the Clinic after the blast. He told friends yesterday he felt no ill effects from the experience and yesterday morning drove his car to Grove City, a 150-mile trip.

Late last night Jones collapsed. He died within a few hours with his young wife and two-year-old daughter at his bedside.

These persons, officials announced, had appointments for examinations at the Clinic. Their names were given out in order that they may report themselves uninjured or undergo examination. Some of these might have left the building without notifying Clinic officials or police, it was feared. If their lungs were filled with the gases there still was a possibility today that they might succumb.

Spontaneous Combustion Blamed.

State officials examining the X-ray film storage room basement where the fire burned the cellulose material and filled the building with gases, causing the explosions, laid the origin to spontaneous combustion. Escaping steam supplied the heat, they believed.

Buffery Boggs, plumber, told them of fighting the thick, brownish cloud as he attempted to repair a leak. He was blown through a door by the first explosion after emptying a fire extinguisher into the room.

Coroner A. J. Pearse announced he had found no evidences of negligence.

Cohen Had Rather Expensive Smoke

Superintendent of Kingston Pants Factory Fined $20 For Smoking Cigar in Factory—Other Police Court Cases.

Morris Cohen, superintendent of the Kingston pants factory at Smith avenue and Grand street, found it rather expensive to smoke a cigar in the factory when he was fined $20 in police court this morning by Judge Shufeldt. Cohen was arrested on complaint of a factory inspector of the state labor department.

Lorenzo Barley of the town of Olive, arrested for public intoxication on North Front street Thursday, was fined $5 in police court, and Isaac Willig of Tannersville, arrested for passing the traffic signal at the Rondout Creek Bridge, was also fined the same amount.

PEOPLE ARE LIVING IN SPLIT SECOND WORLD.

Washington, May 17 (AP).—A split-second world was described by Major General George O. Squier, retired, former chief of the Army Signal Corps, in his testimony before the Senate interstate commerce committee.

"We're living in a fourteenth of a second world," he said. "The man in the farthest corner of the earth, even in the Antipodes, never is more than that far away by radio communication from the rest of the world."

Auto and Truck Collide.

Thursday a Chevrolet truck driven by Karl Messinger of 458 Broadway and a Studebaker sedan of Jean Fusco of College Point were in collision at Clinton avenue and Main street. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

May Day at Kingston High School Was Colorful

Large Audience Enjoys Festive Program Staged In Rear of High School—Participants In the Exercises Were Eloquent and Graceful—Maroon Prizes Awarded — Athletes Receive Roses.

An ideal day dawned for May fete this morning at the high school. A big audience of friends and parents as well as students formed the enthusiastic audience that greeted the May Queen, Marie Pfrommer; her Maid of Honor, Vivian Klothe, and attendants, Janice Steinert, Mildred Healy, Virginia Smith, Louisa Tomi, Florence Baltz, Elizabeth Niles, Elsie Groves and Betty Flemming, following the Grand March of all of the other participants in the festive program.

This year the arrangement of the entire pageant was much better than at any previous year, for the performers were brought forward nearer the spectators, so that the short addresses were clearly heard. No lovelier natural setting could be imagined than that at the rear of the high school with the rocks and trees forming the natural background of the entire picture. This year the Queen's throne was set a little nearer the center of the grounds, and was beautifully decorated with greenery and lilacs. As the various costumed groups marched onto the grounds they formed part of a most colorful and charming picture.

While the music for the Grand March was given by the high school orchestra, that for dancing was given by the piano and "fiddle", admirably played by two of the girl students, also in May Day costumes.

While the guests were gathering upon the overlooking side hill, out rushed a gay and funny group of Robin Hood fellows in fantastic costume and then and there a fearsome duel was fought and, since you can't kill a Goodfellow, all that happened was the costuming of Robin Hood himself. Then there was the sound of the trumpet and the Grand March started. A lovelier sight could not possibly be pictured. The Queen's arrival was differently staged from former years and was most picturesque. Two of her attendants carried long poles from which there streamed out long garlands of gaily colored flowers, carried at their very ends by the prettily costumed attendants. After the arrival of the Queen and her entire court in the center of the greenwood stage, and following the President's Speech given by Vincent Connelly, who acted as Prime Minister, and the crowning of the Queen, the Seniors formed a fairy coach under the garlanded poles and carried their queen, lovely in flowing white gown and carrying roses, to her throne where she made her truly maiden speech which was as gracious as was the President's words of welcome genuine.

All of the costumes were quaint, lovely, graceful or appropriate to the dance being given, and were designed by Miss Bella Hyman, in the High School Homemaking Department. Then the costumes were made by the girls of the Sewing Department, under Miss Hyman's direction.

After the presentation of the Roses to the students, who have earned honors in athletic work during the year, and the awarding of Maroon Awards by Mr. Lasher, came the charming Senior Wreath Dance the dancers carrying large flower wreaths that figured prettily in their dance. The winding of the Maypole with gay ribbons is always pretty and the dancers wore brightly banded white frocks with black bodices. There was fun aplenty in the dance of the fanciful Foresters including Robin Hood, Shepherd's long crooks added to the Shepherdess' Dance the girls wearing yellow, violet and green panierd gowns and tiny hats. One of the best dances was that of the plaided Highlanders who did a right lively Schottische. Another exceedingly pretty dance was that of the little Japanese girls in Kimonas, chrysanthemums and carrying fans. The last dance was the ever graceful Minuet, with the men in black beruffled clothes and the girls in dainty pantaletted gowns. It was all such a bit of beauty out of the work-a-day world that everyone was sorry that the final march came so soon.

Dr. Sanford Is Health Officer

Health Board Elects Him to Fill Vacancy Caused by Death of Dr. Loughran—Board Revokes Slaughter House Permits—Other Matters.

Dr. Lester E. Sanford of 167 Clinton avenue was elected health officer of Kingston at the regular monthly meeting of the board of health held Thursday evening at the city hall, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. E. H. Loughran.

Mayor E. J. Dempsey presided at the meeting with Commissioners Hickey, Hubne, Moore, Holcomb and Jacobson in attendance. Dr. Mark O'Meara was the only absentee. The election of the health officer occurred at an executive session that followed the regular meeting of the board.

Sanitary Inspector Nathan Cook reported to the board recommending that slaughter house permits be revoked which had been issued to Davis Farber at 42 Chambers street, Harris Mones at 20 Ann street, and Isaac Farber at 20 East Union street. He said that these were temporary permits granted in 1920, and that the premises were now used for garage purposes and that only occasionally was slaughtering done there. Dr. Holcomb moved that the permits be canceled which was adopted.

A petition was read from residents of the upper end of Spring street for the construction of a sewer to remedy unsanitary conditions that exist there. The petition was referred to the board of public works.

Bills and claims were read and approved, and the board then adjourned.

Health Officer Sanford, who assumes his duties at once, is a graduate of the Albany Medical School. During the World War he entered the service and holds the rank of captain. He has had considerable experience in health work and for five years served as health officer of the Booneville health district in this state.

The reports of the officers of the board, which were submitted at the meeting Thursday, were printed in The Freeman of Wednesday.

Tornado Damage at Portland, Maine

Narrow Swath Cut Through Suburbs Where Wind's Velocity Was 75 Miles an Hour—Violent Cloudburst Accompanied Wind.

Portland, Me., May 17 (AP).—A toll of flattened buildings, wrecked roofs, uprooted trees and broken wire lines today bore evidence to the violence of a cloudburst and tornado which cut a narrow swath through Portland suburbs yesterday.

While residents of Riverton and North Deering began clearing yards and highways of debris tossed about by the terrific wind, officials of the United States Marine Hospital at East Deering surveyed the damage to the roof of the institution's northwest wing.

The wind, which weather bureau officials said reached 75 miles an hour, ripped the wing roof from its beams and dropped it on another part of the building. Ceilings held together and patients in the hospital was not endangered.

Mrs. Rose Philbrook and her three young children were the only persons made homeless. They narrowly escaped death as the roof of the house was torn away and the walls collapsed. Their furniture and most of their personal effects today lay in the splintered debris while neighbors cared for them.

A large barn in North Deering, housing tractors, automobiles and trucks, was flattened and the machines damaged. One complete sidewall of the building was lifted into the air and carried 150 feet.

FIRE IN MURPHY'S TRUCK CALLED OUT FIREMEN.

Fire in some rubbish on a Ford truck owned by N. D. J. Murphy called the firemen out Thursday afternoon, when an alarm was rung in from box 53, Fair and St. James streets. The truck was parked in the rear of the house at the corner of Wall and St. James street. What caused the fire is not known but the truck was considerably damaged. As usual there was a traffic congestion caused by the cars which followed the fire apparatus to the scene.

Summer Camp For Boy Scouts

(Contributed)

The camping committee of the Ulster County Council, Boy Scouts of America, is making extensive plans to conduct their regular Scout camp known as Mi-ka-ne-ka-wa (I make a trail for him) for a period of six weeks starting on Tuesday, July 9, and closing on Tuesday, August 20. This will be a first class camp for the Boy Scouts of the county.

Scouting is an out of doors game. It was not a mere accident that "out" was put in Scouting at the very beginning of the movement. Camping, therefore, plays an important part in the Scouting program. In this day and age the importance of sending your boy to camp is self-evident. If you want him to develop socially by mixing with other boys, physically through outdoor life and in athletics and morally through contact with men interested in his welfare, then a good camp is certainly the place for your boy this summer.

And what camp? If your boy is a Scout, the place for him is a real Scout camp, under Scout leadership, Scout safety precautions and the true Scout atmosphere of democracy and service. We do not claim to do more for boys at a Scout camp—the Scout plan is to train boys to do things for themselves. There are certain specials and extras that are not found at Scout camps. These are more balanced by the Scout training, which is educational and character building. Scouting stands for self-reliance and efficiency. Your boy deserves this sort of experience. Camp Mikanakawa offers as fine a camp and program as is to be found in this section.

New Lodge and Equipment

The new lodge with fully equipped kitchen attached is to the boys the important place in camp. This is of the most modern construction giving comfort and shelter at all times. The property and lodge were provided through the generosity of the citizens of Kingston, particularly the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

New equipment will be added this season. Flies for the tents which will make them rainproof; new boats, diving platform and floating docks will be installed. The new swimming crib which was built last year will be used again. This makes it absolutely safe for beginners in swimming.

The meals are served to patrol groups in the lodge. Each leader sits with his group. The former chef, W. M. Wineman, who has been so popular with the boys in former seasons, will be in charge of the kitchen. The camp will serve only the best food obtainable.

Special emphasis will be placed upon the program of activities. Instruction in the various Scout requirements and opportunity to pass the tests will be provided. Woodcraft, baseball, nature study, archery, swimming, cooking, over-night hikes, camp shows and campfire programs, indiancraft, volley ball, water sports, inter-patrol contests, field and track events, canoeing, boating and practical instruction in real campcraft will be included.

Messinger Secured for Athletics.

Edward J. Messinger, a Kingston boy, and now a student at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, will be in charge of the swimming program and athletic activities. Camp Mikanakawa feels that it is especially fortunate in being able to secure this popular and efficient leader for its camping season.

Arrangements have been made with Jack Lucas of Highland to see to the procuring and transportation of provisions for the camp. Other part-time leaders will be secured to assist in promoting the program.

Howard N. Smith, Scout executive of Ulster county, will be the director. His time this season will be devoted largely to the Scouting activities of the program. He has had an experience of many years in boys' camps. One thing which he will watch with all diligence is the safety of the campers. Therefore he will see that special precautions are taken with regard to the water hazards. The boys are allowed to go in the water only at stated intervals and then only under leadership. Three checking systems are used: The "buddy system," whereby the boys check in in pairs, each watching out for his buddy; the red and white tag system and the number-check. "Chief" Smith with sixteen years of Scout experience and for many years a camp director, will have general direction of the camp staff. He holds a commission as camp director from National Scout headquarters.

Camp Committee.

The camp committee is composed of the following members: Chairman, S. J. Messinger, A. J. Burns, M. L. Reben, L. H. Willson, E. W. Hathaway, S. K. Clapp, of Kingston; F. S. Van Voorhis, Richard Overbaugh, Saugerties; J. H. Divine, Ellenville; W. D. Corwin, Highland; H. G. Gregory, S. M. Kevan, New Paltz.

Any who are interested may send for detailed information and camp circulars to Howard N. Smith, Scout Executive, 442 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y.

11 Days to Secure License Renewals

Albany, N. Y., May 17—More than 1,500,000 motorists in this state who have not renewed their driving licenses must attend to that duty within the next two weeks in order to comply with the requirements of the law. The 1929-30 license will be required after May 31. Charles A. Harnett, commissioner of motor vehicles, reminds motorists that those who expect to take an over Memorial Day trip should present their renewal applications at once, if they would avoid possible inconvenience and delay.

On May 30, a holiday, the offices of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles will be closed. Only eleven working days remain before the expiration of the present license year. There will be no annoyance or confusion if attention is given to license renewal before the last days of the month.

NO MORE WALKING.

With the death of Edward Payson Weston, greatest of modern pedestrians, the age of walking may be said to end. Probably there will never be any more walkers like him in civilized lands. The conditions which bred them have changed. It was just as well that Weston eased up on his walking tours when he did, a few years ago. If age had not compelled it, traffic would. Lucky is the man or woman who can tramp a few miles on our modern highways, not to say a few hundred miles, without being "bumped off". And if by some rare chance the tramper escapes the bump, he is subject to another peril, pleasant but insidious. The driver who does not run him down or honk him off the road may tempt him to a ride. This is one of the main difficulties faced by the "bunion derby" now crossing the continent. How can a hiker hold out against the persistent offers of kindly motorists—for there are still such—to jump in and take it easy for a few miles?

No, these modern roads are not for walking. Neither, as yet, is provision made alongside of the vehicle pavement for pedestrians. There is talk of sidewalks or paths, but not much is done about it. Seldom is there even a strip of grass to walk on. It is hard pavement or nothing for the human "hoofer".

Eventually, as the need of physical exercise becomes more urgent, something may be done for this finest and most natural of exercises by laying out paths through the fields and woods. In the meantime the only widespread provision made for it is on the golf links. Golf is, of course, primarily a walking sport. From that fact it derives its healthfulness, though golfers, intent on their strokes and scores, will seldom admit it. Golf may be the last stand of pedestrianism.

FRENCH PIONEERS.

There is report of an exhibition by the French Geographical Society in Paris illustrating early French exploration in America. We are apt to forget how vast was such exploration and conquest, yet there are many lingering traces of it in both the United States and Canada—in Louisiana and Quebec, and in such names of our Middle Western towns as Marquette, Joliet and La Salle. Recalling the early march of the French explorers, missionaries and traders in the New World, Parkman, the historian, wrote: "Again their ghostly campfires seem to burn, and the fitful light is cast around on lord and vassal and black-robed priest, mingled with the wild forms of savage warriors. A boundless vision grows upon us: an untamed continent; vast wastes of forest verdure, mountains silent in primeval sleep . . . wilderness oceans mingling with the sky."

The French first dared and blazed the trails, but the English and Americans inherited the fruits. One reason given for the failure of France to reap where she had sown is the home-loving nature of her people and the nostalgia cruelly attacking them in far lands. A more obvious reason was the urgent need of defenders of her land frontiers at home. The preoccupations and demands of the Napoleonic wars enabled President Thomas Jefferson to purchase at an insignificant price the vast Louisiana Territory covering many States of the Mississippi valley. The exhibition in Paris is of interest beyond the borders of France, for both the United States and Canada are deeply indebted to the French pioneers who first penetrated the pathless wildernesses of the New World.

AERIAL DRY SCOUTS.

Rum-running, which used to center mainly on the eastern seaboard, has shifted with the abolition of the Atlantic rum fleet. It now flourishes most along the Detroit river, which offers a quick transfer of contraband booze from Canada to the states and provides a great market within a small radius.

The government, in its intensified war against smuggling and bootlegging, is now sending reinforcements to that sector of the wet front. The latest move is to attack the enemy by air.

There will be airplanes manned by prohibition, customs and coast guard officers along the border wherever they are needed. The immediate purpose of the planes is to serve as a scouting force, to locate smugglers and spot their movements. Through radio communication they will send tips to the ground patrols. Thus many a shipment will be forestalled.

It is conceivable that sooner or later this air force will add bombs to its equipment. It is also conceivable that rum itself will take to the air eventually. So far, it has not been forced to that extremity.

At a high-society tea on Park avenue, New York, to which he was invited with other writers, and where there was much boasting of long and noble descent, Ring W. Lardner is said to have rapped the snobs by solemnly replying as follows to inquiry in regard to his own family tree: "I was born in Niles, Mich., of colored parents."

A gift of $325,000 to start a fund for the furtherance of medical science has been given in London by an anonymous philanthropist as a thank offering for King George's recovery. The King's remarkable recovery after hope had been abandoned has been widely accepted as a triumph of medical science.

PREVENTING GALL STONES.

Some months ago I spoke about the lack of wisdom we show by having an ambulance down in the valley to pick up folk who fall over the cliff, instead of having a fence about the edge of the cliff to prevent folk falling over the precipice.

The thought of course is that it is more important to try to prevent accidents and sickness than to give treatment afterwards.

And so as we think about gall stones we talk about whether or not an operation should be performed instead of going into the matter as to the cause of gall stones and the possibilities of preventing them.

Dr. Stanley E. Ryerson says "In the present age we are treating the end results of a prolonged chronic disease by removing gall bladders or draining them after the removal of stones."

In other words certain things cause gall stones and yet little or nothing is said about these causes.

Gall stones are usually caused by a stasis or stoppage of the gall bladder, a steady pressure of surrounding organs which causes the bile to thicken.

Anything which takes away this pressure for even a short time stimulates the gall bladder to action.

Thus the liver squeezer exercises of bending over to the right side and then to the left presses and relaxes the liver and gall bladder, stimulates bile flow, thus preventing stasis.

Even the ordinary breathing exercises which send the lungs up and down against the floor of the chest and roof of abdomen prevent stasis and the formation of gall stones.

Also any infection in the body from teeth and tonsils, can go to the gall bladder, inflame its lining surface and deposits from this inflamed lining can start gall stones.

Very rich foods such as eggs and cream may also be a factor in the formation of stones.

Dr. Ryerson's idea then is that instead of thinking of the medical or surgical treatment of gall stones we should endeavor to prevent the actual formation of the stones by exercise, careful diet, and the removal of any sources of infection in the body.

It certainly does seem like the sensible thing to do.

Wins Bond Slogan Contest.

Governor Harvey Parnell of Arkansas presented a check for $2,000 on May 8, to E. E. Upton, bookkeeper of Little Rock, as the first prize winner in the nation-wide flashlight slogan contest conducted by the Bond Electric Corporation of Jersey City, N. J. Mr. Upton's slogan, "Rest Renews the Current You Use," written on the recuperative feature of the Bond flashlight, was adjudged the best of over 250,000 entries received from every state in the union.

Work It Out Yourself

Strange are the uses of the English language. A young woman was grumbling that she had been deprived of a bit of sight-seeing by the fact that a friend had got married secretly. Said her brother: "Well, I suppose a man can do as he likes. His wedding's his own funeral, anyway!"

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

SYNOPSIS: An unsolved murder by the police develops the theory that the murderer, Andrew Ogden, for 11 years leading and exemplary citizen, and once here the swaggering promoter of Troy, Kelly, Miss Peterson. Ogden's son, Jerry, charged with the slaying, is missing. His fiancee, Lucy, and her uncle, John Peckle, both of whom challenge the theory of Jerry's guilt, fear for his safety. From the police they learn the startling news that Jerry was seen speeding toward Skull Valley, where his father owned a deserted mine mysteriously linked with the murder.

Chapter 17

LOVE DEFIES THE LAW

I put the telephone down slowly. How was I to keep it from Lucy? But when I looked into her eyes I knew there would be no keeping it from Lucy.

"It was headquarters. Deacon is dropping in here. They—they want him to call up."

"There's something else, Uncle John. Something about Jerry. What is it?"

"Steady, old girl," I pleaded, dropping an arm over her shoulder. "Somebody saw Jerry driving along the Peskella road towards Skull Valley the night before last."

"Where are they?" Deacon exclaimed heartily.

Henry has a warm spot in his heart for Polyandria and I wasn't surprised to hear him follow Lucy down the hall. What she was going to do with him I hadn't the slightest idea.

"In here, Captain Deacon," Lucy said pleasantly.

"I don't see them, Miss Lucy."

"Over there in the corner. Go right in."

A door slammed, a key turned, and my heart climbed into my throat. Only one door in the house slams like that. A massive piece of finely paneled English oak. I had picked it up cheap at Hyde's and hung it in the entrance of a little storeroom near the patio. A few trunks occupy the room and the one small window is not large enough for a man to pass through.

Lucy came racing down the hall. "Uncle John!" she panted.

"Are you mad!" I cried, flinging open the door of my den. "Let him out at once!"

She beat on my chest with her fists. "You promised you wouldn't interfere! Don't you dare!" And then pleading followed frenzy. "It's Jerry's only chance, Uncle John! Please! Please!"

"His only chance! Nonsense! You are making things worse for him. Do as I tell you!"

Off to Skull Valley—to save her fiance.

"Skull Valley—Torridity," she whispered.

I nodded. "Probably."

"I thought he might have gone there. Deacon is coming here, you say. You won't tell him?"

"I shall have to, Lucy. If I don't, they'll call him at Ogdens'."

"Yes, of course! Oh, dear! what are we to do?". She clasped her hands desperately. "What can we do?"

"Jerry will explain," I mumbled. "Don't we know he's done nothing to be afraid of?"

She turned on me fiercely. "Of course we do! And of course he'll explain, but will Deacon accept his explanation? If Jerry were to come back now and give himself up Deacon probably would. But Deacon believes Jerry did it and if he finds him out there he'll think he's hiding—don't you see?"

This was my own view of the matter. If we could have warned Jerry that Deacon was on his trail the boy could then have anticipated arrest by giving himself up to the police. A thought struck me.

"If Jerry has been in Skull Valley since the night before last he may not know—about his father. The town is abandoned. There are no telephones, no newspapers, no means of communication. That's why he hasn't turned up."

"Of course that's why, Uncle John," the girl cried frenziedly.

A car had stopped in front of the house. Lucy's face whitened; then a queer, excited look leaped into her eyes and she slipped into the hall. Her cheeks were burning when she returned.

"It is Deacon and he's alone! Let me handle him, Uncle John! Please!"

"Handle him! My dear child! What do you mean?"

"I've got an idea! It's Jerry's only chance! You must let me try it! Promise me you will, Uncle John!"

"Why, why—good Heavens, girl! Oh, very well! What do you want me to do? He's here now."

"Nothing! Just stay here and don't interfere whatever I do! Promise!"

"Oh, very well," I promised.

She was off in a flash, shutting the door behind her. The front door opened.

"Hello, Miss Lucy," Henry greeted her. "Is Uncle John up, yet?"

Lucy laughed. "Hours ago, Captain Deacon. We were just looking at Polyandria's new babies."

Lucy takes the fight for her fiance into her own hands. What will be the outcome of her rash act? Another episode in tomorrow's chapter.

W. W. ALLERTON, LECTURER. A VISITOR IN KINGSTON.

Walter W. Allerton of Brookline, Mass., round-the-world traveler and distinguished travelogue lecturer, was the guest on Tuesday and Wednesday of his cousin, Mrs. C. N. Reed, at her home on Crown street. Mr. Allerton recently gave his new lecture on "China", in the costume of a professional or retired gentleman of central China, at the Institute of Arts and Sciences in Brooklyn, showing some two hundred rarely beautiful colored slides, mostly of his own photographing. This was the first lecture given by Mr. Allerton since his return from his second round-the-world trip and considerable stay in China, and he was given a reception such is rarely afforded a lecturer on any topic. The institute immediately requested a series of lectures from Mr. Allerton for next year. Kingstonians may be interested to know that in the fall Mr. Allerton will give this same lecture on "China" at St. Stephen's College, Annandale.

Guinea Pig Misnamed

The "guinea pig" is so called because it was thought to have come from Guinea, which is in Africa. However, this was a mistake, because the guinea pig comes from South America.

P. T. A. OF SCHOOL NO. 5 ELECTS ITS OFFICERS.

At the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 5, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. William Eberth; vice president, Mrs. Kretsch; second vice president, Mrs. Decker; treasurer, Mrs. Stevenson, and secretary, Mrs. Van Deusen. The thanks of the association were extended to the retiring president, Mrs. Belle Lockwood.

Among the matters discussed at the meeting was the conference to be held in Poughkeepsie on June 5, and an invitation to attend this conference was extended to the members.

A number of members were asked to work on the Summer Roundup campaign. Mrs. William G. Newkirk is chairman of the campaign and has made fine progress in obtaining the cooperation of the doctors and dentists. The purpose of the work is to have all children who will enter school in September examined by doctors and dentists and defects corrected so that they may enter school 100 per cent in health in the fall.

The members were also asked to cooperate with the American Legion in observing Memorial Day here. Those who have flowers to donate are requested to notify Principal Meagher of the school. The work done in the Ulster county children's camp was also brought to the attention of the association and circulars relating to camp life were distributed.

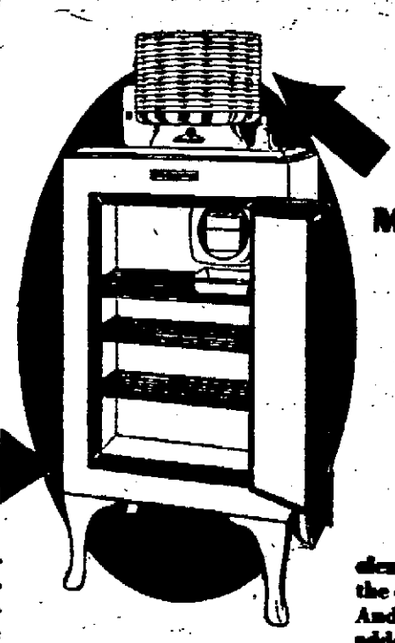
2 OUTSTANDING ADVANTAGES



ALL THE MECHANISM IS ON TOP

THE CABINET IS ALL-STEEL

Of the many advantages of General Electric Refrigerators, two are especially vital—the hermetically sealed, on-top mechanism and the all-steel warp-proof cabinet.

The mechanism in any electric refrigerator has but one purpose—to absorb heat from the food. It must be permitted to radiate that heat rapidly just as heat is conducted away from the engine of your car. As heat naturally rises, it can be radiated from the top of the refrigerator. To place the radiating coils anywhere else cuts down their efficiency and increases the cost of operation. And now has been added the new all-steel cabinet. Built like a safe, it can't warp—it operates on the least amount of current—its doors always retain their perfect fit which shuts out heat. Available in six sizes at prices surprisingly low. The small family size is but $215, at the factory. Sold on convenient time payments.

Listen in on the General Electric Hour, broadcast every Saturday evening, 8 to 9, Eastern Standard Time, over the N. B. C. network of 42 stations.

WAISTLINES ARE VARIOUSLY ACCENTED AND SHOULDERS ARE MOLDED.

New York.—Waistlines have a reputation for being restless. They have their ups and downs but until recently have been content to be reasonably straight up and down. There are ever so many indentations this season, nip-in waistlines having found favor by O'Rosen who exploited them in his spring suit collection, and by ever so many of the couture. Molded lines, whether actually princess or not have become the most desirable waistline, and whether one varies the silhouette by a supplementary bolero or jacket, there is something to accent the waist line, be it at the top of the hips, or higher. The line may not be straight, indeed it is inclined not to be, for it seems logical to follow the dip of the hem.

Afternoon Frock Developed in Printed Crepe, Introduces a Bolero That Tiers at One Side, a Draped Wide Collar and Skirt With Flaring Fulness at One Side.

(Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild)

One notices a tendancy to outline a trim shoulder as well as hip. The collar-over-the-coat-movement has quite naturally added to the importance of collars. Yokes also have found favor and are instrumental in giving a clear cut line to the shoulder. Self collars are quite as good in their way as contrasting ones, excepting that in the case of a black or blue frock there is a penchant for a white or egg shell lingerie collar.

While printed dresses may be variously trimmed, one is quite within their rights to eschew other trimming than is provided by the color and motif of the gown itself. Self collars, belts too for that matter, have a way of being bowed.

Pink Canterbury Bells on Creamy White Cotton

Even a baby perks up and pays attention to pink canterbury bells on a creamy white cotton. A dress that is colorful and modish helps to keep up the morale at the early hour of nine in the morning. The lines are right: a straight upper part, a skirt that flares smartly, an overlap. The skirt runs up at the right side, laps the upper section and the trimming band comes over them for good measure. The pique trimming bands is a pleasing long line to be had for less than ten minutes' stitching. Ready-folded binding makes the sewing go even faster. It is the quick way to finish the upper edge of the skirt before it is joined to the blouse section.—Woman's Home Companion.

On Rearing Children

from CRIB to COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN, The Magazine for PARENTS"

The group sense, the middle ground, a new poise, belief in others, the power to co-ordinate, the expectation of understanding—all these are attributed of a race yet to come, expressed in the adults of now in proportion as they have reached spiritual adulthood, but expressed with heartening frequency by children. Over and over again it is true of children that they are born on a higher spiritual plane than the plane on which they stand when they finished their school. The schooling is planned by adults, but is entered upon by rather angelic beings. Surely the whole task of child training is to recognize and invite the angel in the child. Instead of this, we try to measure the angel by yard sticks.

A budget and a record of expenditures can teach us something about our own sense of values and about those which our mode of living is instilling in our children. How are we reconciling our income and our wants? Of course we want to be ambitious, to be as efficient producers as possible, and to increase earnings as we can. But there are ways of satisfying the demands for the increased refinements of life other than increased expenditures. If a few persons in a community are only brave enough to break through the wall of conventional expenditures, others will follow with relief.

Cozy little garments for the baby are made of dainty washable flannels. The sensible mother trims them with very simple embroidery and narrow laces. Ties instead of buttons are the better fastenings. Printed flannel in pastel colors is charming for little dressing gowns. Coats of flannel should be made with detachable linings. Flannelette is practical for nightgowns.

Patriotism, as commonly taught, is easily perverted. If we are to give content to the idea of loyalty in our schools, it is necessary to teach children to face the facts of life; to see that the roots of war are nearly always economic, to see that there has rarely, if ever, been a war in which all the right was on one side, and all the wrong on the other; to understand the causes of war in the hope of getting at the cure of war.

Necessary as milk is to the baby, unclean milk or even good milk without refrigeration is fatal. If your milk supply is dubious or you cannot possibly afford Grade A pasteurized milk, then we turn to the next most natural, unaltered forms of milk we have: the dried milk powder and the evaporated canned milk. Both of these have safety and uniformity to recommend them; they travel well, they are the same everywhere.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Miss Anissee Dibbs has the same last name as her fiance has and as her mother had always. She is engaged to Alexander D. Dibbs. Her mother and father both were named Dibbs before they were married.

New York—Pauline Lord, the Nina of Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude," is a bride. Friends have just learned that she is honeymooning on the trans-Atlantic liner Paris with Owen B. Winters, a partner in an advertising agency. She is to continue on the stage.

Glen Cove, N. Y.—Mrs. Marshall Field raises the best tulips on Long Island. At a show her entries won 12 points. Mrs. Harold I. Pratt was second with 24 and J. P. Morgan third with 18.

New York—Convicted for the forty-sixth time since 1913, Josephine Peterson, 56, is going to jail again for six months, making a total of 12 years' detention.

Mexico City—Advices from Juarez would indicate that Lieutenant Colonel Juan Aviles is quite a hombre. As the accounts go, he was "executed," yea, even given the coup de grace by a rebel firing squad. Found by a peasant, he is now described as nearly recovered except for a little deafness.

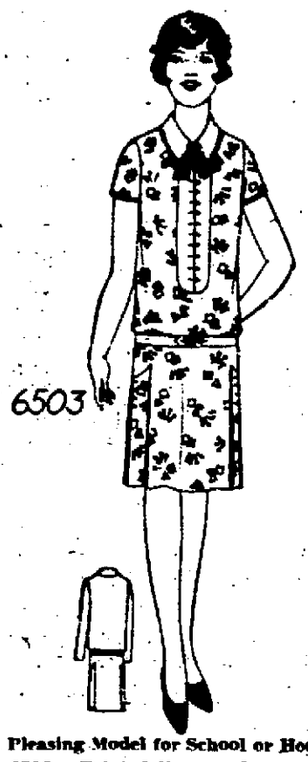
Sofia—Mustapha Kemal desires that Turks in Bulgaria discard fez and veil and adopt the Latin alphabet. The Turkish minister asked the Bulgarian government to issue the necessary orders. The government declined, resenting interference.

New York—There are some young women nurses who say they would continue in their profession even though they were millionaires. More than 50 of 130 nurses quizzed by Professor Harry D. Kitson of Columbia told him so. He is now to apply to those in farming and other occupations the same question, "What would you do if you had $1,000,000?"

New York—Adult gorillas are to be killed in Africa, embalmed and brought to New York for anatomical study and detailed comparison with man. The College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University is sending an expedition in cooperation with the American Museum of Natural History.

New York—Mrs. Celia Davidson has been made her husband's receiver by Justice Mac Crate in order that she may be sure of collecting alimony of $50 a week. The husband owns realty.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.



A Pleasing Model for School or Home

6503. Printed linen and organdy are here combined. Tub silk and cotton prints are also desirable. The front outlines a deep vestee trimmed with buttons and simulated button holes. At the sides the dress is shaped in a deep curve above plait inserts, which supply graceful fulness. A rolled collar trims the neck. The fitted sleeve may be made in wrist length as pictured in the small view or in short length as shown in the large view.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. To make the dress for a 12-year size will require 3¼ yards of 39-inch material. For vestee, collar and belt of contrasting material, ⅝ yard is required 39 inches wide and cut crosswise. To bind outer edges of front, collar, and sleeves, and the curved edges above the plaits will require 2½ yards 1½ inch wide of bias tape or binding.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Dedicate Trees For Captain Molly

West Point, N. Y., May 17 (AP).—Five cedar trees, forming the background for the grave of Margaret Corbin,—"Captain Molly" of Revolutionary fame,—in the military cemetery here, will be dedicated on May 25 by the New York State Officers' Club of the Daughters of the American Revolution. At the same time a memorial wreath will be laid on the grave.

"Captain Molly" formerly was buried at Highland Falls but in April, 1926, her remains were reinterred in the West Point Military Cemetery by the New York State Conference, D. A. R. The cedar stump which marked her original grave has been made into gavels for presentation purposes by the Officers' Club.

The dedication program will open with patriotic airs by the West Point Military Band. The Rev. Arthur B. Kinsolving, U. S. Army chaplain, will give the invocation and Major General William R. Smith, superintendent of the United States Military Academy, will deliver an address of welcome. Mrs. Alma Brooks Parker, chairman of the Margaret Corbin Memorial Committee, will speak on "Margaret Corbin, Revolutionary Heroine" and Mrs. Frank Howland Parcells, New York State Regent, will place the wreath at the monument.

The trees will be dedicated by Mrs. Charles White Nash, president of the New York State Officers' Club, D. A. R. "Trees," Joyce Kilmer's poem, set to music by Oscar Rasbach, will be sung by the West Point Officers' Quartet. The service will be concluded by the Star Spangled Banner, played by the West Point Military Band and Taps, sounded by Corporal Frank Matthews, U. S. M. A.

Immediately after the ceremony at the grave a memorial wreath will be placed on the Corbin memorial tablet in the Church of the Holy Innocents at Highland Falls. Mrs. Nash will speak again and the wreath will be placed by Mrs. Parker. Prayer will be offered by the Rev. Henry Lowndes Drew, rector of the church.

The memorial committee is composed of Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Leverett F. Crumb, representing the club, and Colonel E. J. Timberlake, U. S. A., representing West Point.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

Look at your TONGUE every morning!

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

"Glad To Tell Others What Glorious Health Nu-Erb Has Given Me"

Splendid Advice To Sufferers From Stomach, Kidney and Liver Ailments Comes From East Strand Street Lady.

"I am so grateful for the new feeling of health that Nu-Erb has given me that I am only too glad to tell others about this splendid medicine," said Mrs. Mary Lero, 34 East Strand St., Kingston, N. Y., recently in a statement to the Nu-Erb man at McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall street.

"For the past seven years, I have suffered continual misery and distress because of stomach disorders and indigestion. A distressing gas formed in my stomach after each meal causing heart fluttering and shortness of breath. I used to have a continual aching pain across my back and through my limbs, in addition to this my kidneys disturbed me several times each night. I was subject to dizzy spells, sick headaches and my nerves were in a very weakened condition.

"Since I have used the Nu-Erb all of these troubles have disappeared. It has put an end to all that pain and distress in my stomach and my kidneys are now in such fine shape that I sleep the night through without being disturbed. I am no longer troubled with dizzy spells, spots before my eyes or those awful headaches. My nerves are steady, as a result I sleep soundly all night long and I am feeling stronger and better than I have for years."

Nu-Erb is the ideal system tonic and regulator. It corrects digestive disorders, strengthens weak kidneys, quiets the nerves, rouses a lazy liver to full action, relieves constipation and puts a stop to headaches, dizziness, biliousness, rheumatism and neuritis.

MRS. MARY LERO.

Club Federation Executives Met

On Thursday afternoon there was a meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs held at the city library, the president, Mrs. Edgar N. Palen, presiding. Following the routine business, including some matters of particular interest to the Federation, a communication was read from Mrs. F. W. Cameron, director of the Third District who is highly esteemed by the Kingston women in which she said:

My dear Mrs. Palen,

At the Third District meeting, Mrs. Gregory announced that a prize of $100 will be given to the upstate district sending the largest number of visitors (men or women) to the "Home Making Center" of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs at the Grand Central Palace, Lexington avenue, between 46th and 47th streets, New York city, before October first.

Will you ask the members of your club to make a special effort to visit the Home Making Center if in New York and to secure other visitors? Visitors should register the name of the club through which the invitation came, as well as their own to have it benefit our district.

I have visited the Center and can assure you that for others to do so will be an interesting and valuable experience.

Cordially,
(Signed) MABEL T. CAMERON
(MRS F. W. CAMERON)
Director, Third District.

Practically every known thing about home-making will be found at this center and the information relative thereto.

A report was given of the activities of the Men's City Tree Committee, Sidney K. Clapp, chairman, and the outline given by Mr. Clapp was considered and discussed. A committee composed of a representative from each affiliated club has been appointed by the Federation president to cooperate with the men's committee at any time.

Announcement was made of the open meeting of the whole Federation which will also be the annual meeting which will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. Plans for some summer activity will also be presented at this meeting.

Mrs. Charles Terwilliger and Mrs. A. N. Graham were appointed an auditing committee to pass on the final report of the treasurer to be given at the open meeting on Saturday. The meeting then adjourned.

Rev. Ingersoll Adds Church Unit

Former Pastor of Wurts Street Baptist Church Meets Success in Carrying Out Building Plans at Winter Park, Florida.

The Rev. R. P. Ingersoll and family have returned to Mt. Tremper for their annual summer vacation period. The Rev. Mr. Ingersoll, former pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, is now pastor of the First Baptist Church at Winter Park, Florida, and will spend the summer vacation period at Mt. Tremper. The trip north was made by automobile.

During the past winter a new unit to the Winter Park church was constructed under the direction of Mr. Ingersoll and the building was dedicated on May 2 just prior to Mr. Ingersoll's leaving for the northern trip.

Plans for the erection of a $50,000 church building were begun in the spring of 1928 under the leadership of the former pastor, the Rev. R. P. Ingersoll. All the plans were dropped in the depression which followed. Nothing further was done until last fall when in November the members decided the new building was necessary. Plans were made for an $18,000 addition to the present building but that idea was given up and later a Sunday school unit was decided upon to be erected on the rear of the lot and also a larger building containing an auditorium on the front of the lot, destroying the old building at a later date.

The construction work under the Rev. Mr. Ingersoll and Deacon Mosteller was undertaken and ground broken on January 7. The dedication of the building was in the presence of a large number of residents of the town and Mayor Frederick W. Cady participated, extending greetings from the city. A program of music, addresses and a duet by Mr. Ingersoll and Mr. Adcock was carried out at the dedication services.

After spending several weeks at his home in Mt. Tremper Mr. Ingersoll and family will return to Winter Park where he will again take up his duties in the church.

In commenting on the opening of the new building the Winter Park "Herald" says:

The present unit is now being used as an auditorium until such time as finances warrant a new building adjoining it on the front of the lot. It contains, besides the large, well-lighted auditorium, a spacious basement which is divided into many classrooms, and a large kitchen and dining room which accommodates almost two hundred people.

The church, under the leadership of the Rev. R. P. Ingersoll, is in excellent financial shape and the officers and members alike are eagerly looking forward until the time when the entire new building may be completed.

Airplane Drops Motor and Glides to Safety

Oakland, Calif.—An airplane that drops its motor to become a glider is the invention of Joaquin S. Abreau, an inventor of this city and former World war flyer with the American forces.

The monoplane is constructed so that by pulling an emergency lever in case of motor failure or fire the motor and gasoline tanks, which are carried in an undersection, drop away. The fuselage carries the pilot and passengers to earth as a motorless glider, according to the claims of the inventor.

Spring skids attached to the fuselage force the lower part of the plane away when the emergency lever is manipulated and also act as shock absorbers in making a landing.

It has been estimated that the winged fuselage will have a gliding radius of 80 miles after the weight of the motor and gasoline tanks has been discarded.

Ingenious New Device Warns of Escaping Gas

Linkoeping, Sweden.—A new and ingenious gas alarm apparatus has just been invented here by two engineers, A. Olson and P. Peterson. The device consists of a supersensitive scale, fitted in an oval metal box, which is placed in the ceiling. When illuminating gas escapes, it rises upward, being lighter than air, and the scale immediately responds to the difference in weight between the atmosphere and the gas.

Connected with the apparatus is an electric bell which rings as soon as the scale gets out of balance, thus warning the occupants of the room. The appliance has been successfully tested and is now protected by world patents.

Find Pictures Carved Into Rocks by Indians

Ottawa, Ont.—Pictures that were carved into the rocks long ago by Indians have been discovered in British Columbia, Harlan I. Smith, Canadian government archeologist, has reported. Mr. Smith came upon the rock pictures 20 miles west of Victoria at a point overlooking the Pacific ocean. It is considered remarkable that these carvings have escaped the notice of archeologists who worked in the region for many years.

Mr. Smith has spent the field season collecting Indian specimens in western Canada, making motion-picture records in the Indian areas and photographing the crude old paintings and carvings placed on the rocks by Indian artists.

Origin Lost in Antiquity

The martial air for song, "The Campbells Are Coming" is described as being very old. Music authorities say that this piece is simply regarded as an old Scotch folk song, and no one knows the origin of the music, so far as authorship is concerned.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time, because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, May 16.—Mrs. Jean Spa- of New York who had been visiting her mother, Mrs. Jane Stubley, a few days, returned to the city Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunthner of Union ill, N. J., are stopping for a couple weeks in the Winchell Cottage on corner.

On Tuesday a party of twenty- Catholic clergymen came up om Poughkeepsie in one of the big ses belonging to John DuBois of riborough for an outing and pic- at the dam, but because of the ay weather the reverend gentle- en decided that it would be more sant to eat their lunch indoors, they repaired to the village hall d there spent an enjoyable hour. ese sightseeing tours of the res- oir section in chartered cars are tting to be quite the thing in the y of one-day outing trips.

Herbert Dibbel of Ridgefield Park, J., motored up in his new Ford dan and spent the week end at his ntry seat on the west branch of Butternutkill.

"Happy" Christiana is employed the helm of the road roller now ed by the contractors in trying to ep the state road in fairly decent ndition for traffic while construc- n work is going on.

Charlie Price, boss carpenter on Pitcairn estate job, is authority the statement that the distance m the railroad station at Ashokan the mansion under construction Big Touche is six miles. This fig- applies, of course, to the distance the automobile rolls up the cir- itous trail, rather than to the rse which the crow, or perhaps airplane, might fly. It really isn't ch a long ways up there, but in der to get a comparatively easy de it was necessary to seesaw the d back and forth across the face the mountain considerably.

Ernest Van Kleeck and family ve over from Rhinebeck Sunday call on Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ty- of Middle Boulevard. Mrs. Van eeck, who was formerly Miss Gus- Traphagen of Shokan, is an aunt Mr. Tyler.

Homer Markle, Jr., is caring for a k of 250 little chicks. William eesman, one of Mr. Markle's near ighbors, also has a couple of hun- d pedigreed "peepers".

The road contractors, after leaving ogback as the scene of their exca- ting operations for a few days, ve resumed work there and have ently moved a great quantity of nd and gravel from the old hill for l work farther down the road. Be- en here and Ashokan, big cuts are ing made under the roadbed for purpose of preparing the brook annels for the abutments of the ncrete culverts to be built within next month.

Lyle Wager is employed at the re as clerk. Lester Alexander, o was taken sick with measles, has covered and is also on the job at achell's.

Local participants in the Olive dge-Red Sox baseball game Sunday ternoon at the town ball park were rton Christiana and young Homer arkle, the latter acting in the ca- city of umpire. The Olive boys re leading the Kingston lads to e tune of 6-0 when the game was lled on account of rain.

John Gregory, the genial furniture an of Kingston, was a caller in okan last Sunday. Mr. Gregory oks the picture of good health, due, obably, to his recent sojourn in e sunny state of Florida.

Wallace McDowell, the popular perintendent of the Pitcairn prop- ty, remained up a good part of the ght on Monday, waiting for a ipment of Percheron horses to ar- ve from Philadelphia. Finally, ong towards morning, the big van d of valuable equines arrived and oceeded on their way up the moun- in.

Recent visitors to town included r. and Mrs. Allan Hughes of New rsey, who came up to see Allan's ther and sisters, Francis Hughes, iss Florence Hughes and Mrs. anche Nadal. Mr. and Mrs. ughes have a little baby now, thus aking "Frank" a proud grand- ddy.

Some of the young fellows who rive the big dump trucks on the ad job are getting heartily "sick" so much rainy weather. It seems at ever since the job was started ere has been a deal of wetness reabouts, so that the lads have eforce lost a lot of time on that count. It doesn't take much rain make the clay subsoil so sticky at the work has to be called off the day, and this means a real ss to the men, whose trucks then e idle and whose board bills mount et the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cordes motored from their home near Paterson, J., and called on friends here nday. Mr. and Mrs. Cordes ought news of the recent death the Rev. Mr. Heinemann, pastor the largest Lutheran Church in ooklyn, and father of Mrs. Robert ann, now of Newburgh, but for- rly of Shokan. The late Dr. einemann, who had celebrated his rtieth wedding anniversary only day before his passing, was a rryman who ranked high in his urch, he having preached before the kaiser in that ex-ruler's happier days.

B. Nadal of the Heights section had the misfortune to fall and break one of his ribs last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Nadal, who has conducted a farm and boarding house here for a number of years, used to run a popular Spanish restaurant in New York city, and in his younger days he became well acquainted with all of the great pioneer Spanish cigar manufacturers of this country.

With the several hundred men in the building trades reported out of work at the county seat, men are beginning to look toward the Catskills for employment. John Hoffman, formerly a well known resident of Cold Brook, was in town recently for the purpose of getting work on the Pitcairn job.

Mrs. Sarah Bell, who has achieved an enviable reputation for successful gardening, has her vegetable plot more than half planted, which is more than most people hereabouts can asseverate. Some people reasoned that so long as the weather continued cold it was better to postpone planting operations until more moderate conditions, though a few believed in going ahead and taking a chance on the seed rotting or failing to sprout. The local storekeeper reports large quantities of flower seeds being bought by the women folks, however, presumably for planting in boxes and transplanting later on.

The fishing ground at the reservoir dividing weir is apparently one spot where the rich and the poor sit down together, in hopeful anticipation if not brotherly love. To this scene of piscatorial promise flock battered flivvers from whose rear end project spear-like sundry and red-flagged bamboo poles, as well as costly cars wherein are cached expensive fishing gear and the last word in patent lures. Recently a be-knickered gentleman was seen seated on the running board of his parked limousine, fussing with his outfit, whilst a modishly uniformed chauffeur stood attentively at hand ready and willing to do what he could to assist his employer in embarking upon the great adventure.

The coming Sunday marks the fifty-fourth anniversary of the big fire which destroyed Cornelius Bishop's hotel in old Shokan, at two o'clock in the morning. There are many persons still living who can recall seeing this picturesque hostelry, which stood along the Plank road on the lot where the M. E. parsonage was erected later, directly opposite the George Everett store acquired by the Winchells a few years afterwards. The hotel was a large frame building of two stories and a basement, part of which opened out on a veranda about on a level with the road. In this basement was located the bar, where stage travelers and others might quaff refreshing drinks within its cool depths, and which, incidentally, was the last legalized liquor dispensary ever to be conducted in Shokan. The hotel barns, standing a hundred yards or so to the east, where North Everett's house stood in later years, were not harmed by the big fire. Cornelius Bishop, the proprietor, was popularly known as "Case" Bishop, "Case" being a nickname for Cornelius in those days. Cornelius Boice, oldest son of John P. Boice, who had a sawmill on the Esopus creek near where his son, Henry, lived in pre-waterworks days, was another local man who was called "Case." Just how this nickname came into use the writer has not been able to learn, though the fact that Shokan was at one time known as Caseville, after the owner of the big tannery there, may be supposed to have had some bearing on the nomenclature.

Theoretical Dollar

The term "compensated" or "stabilized dollar" was coined by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale in his book, "Stabilizing the Dollar." It is a theoretical dollar having a constant purchasing power. The theory of the compensated dollar is to convert the present gold standard into a true commodity standard—that is, to standardize the dollar as a unit of purchasing power. Thus, there would be a gold dollar of constant purchasing power with varying weight instead of a gold dollar of standard weight and varying purchasing power.

What Is Poverty?

Franz Schubert died and left great riches to the world—the riches of beauty translated through the glorious medium of music. Those who came to look into the attic of Schubert declared that he had died in poverty. He was the poor figure of financial tragedy. Lately a bit of his manuscript sold for $5,000. But that does not establish his wealth. The great riches he left are for those who can appreciate them. Men may die without money, but they need not die in poverty in the larger sense.—Grove Patterson in the Mobile Register.

Slay Stone-Eating Germs

Chemical warfare is being waged on germs that are literally eating up big buildings. Scores of organisms that eat stone and other substances have been discovered. Chemicals are sought that will slay the germs without destroying the materials. The germs open the pores in the surface, exposing the material to the destructive influence of the weather. Some bacteria cause erosion in the hardest marble in three weeks.

An Eye for Color

A little girl recently skinned her knee and her mother promptly applied a bright-colored antiseptic.

Several days later the mother served cold meats and catsup. The little girl, seeing her father generously helping himself to catsup, demanded: "Mother, I want some meat with mercurochrome on it."

Hernandez Found Dahlia

It was in 1570 that Philip II of Spain sent Francisco Hernandez to Mexico to compile an official report of the tree and plant life of New Spain. He sent seeds to the director of the Royal Botanic gardens in Madrid, who, says Nature Magazine, disseminated the dahlia throughout Europe. Hernandez found the dahlia, not as a wild flower, but in the cultivated gardens of the Aztecs.

Odd Human Foods

"Uncooked monkey brains on the half skull, pickled water beetles, fried locusts and cobra and python steaks are specimens of the many strange and unusual foods which grace the world's dinner tables," says a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographic society.

SLEEP WITHOUT DRUGS SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

Former Battle Creek Sanitarium Physician States Amazing Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Condition Naturally and Brings Sound, Restful Sleep by Perfecting Digestion—Whelan Drug Stores Feature Flaxolyn.

Thousands of people here who formerly suffered nights of sleeplessness and days of agonizing stomach distress due to constipation, now feel fit, eat with keen appetites and sleep serenely since taking Nature's own formula, Dr. Luntz's Herbal Flaxolyn.

According to the statement issued by Dr. A. W. Herr, formerly physician at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, "Flaxolyn relieves in a natural way that dreaded condition called constipation. In many cases where auto-intoxication prevented sleep, the use of Flaxolyn has been the means of so cleansing the colon that natural sleep is now the usual thing and life has taken on a different meaning for these people."

Dr. Geo. Starr White, prominent Los Angeles health writer, and specialist, aroused kidney and stomach sufferers by taking an open stand in praise of Flaxolyn when he said last week, "I know of no remedy that can equal Herbal Flaxolyn as a corrective for chronic conditions of the bladder and kidneys—no more natural formula for 'self poisoning' due to constipation."

Dr. Benedict Lust, (M. D., N. D.), president of the American Naturopathic Association, says: "Flaxolyn is a natural food-laxative and priceless in all digestive ills."

That is the unique feature of Flaxolyn—it is a remarkable

Tonic-Laxative, Not a "DRUG"

Hundreds of other doctors and health sanatoriums all over the world have used Flaxolyn in the treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, liver disorders, indigestion, sleepless nights, kidney and bladder troubles and have already written in praise of Flaxolyn.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn today. Does not gripe, because it is a natural food. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, a new grip on life.

Diet Advice Free

Any of the stores selling Flaxolyn will gladly supply you with Dr. Luntz's Rules of Health, on the purchase of a package. A large box containing many treatments costs $1. Sent postpaid, if you cannot call in person.

Free diet and health suggestions may also be obtained from Dr. Luntz personally. His address appears on the package.

elebration of Music Week

ain Celebrates It a Week Late Members to Build Bungalow for "Y" Boys' Camp at Glenerie With Lumber Donated by Kingston Lumber Corporation.

was music week, so the Ki- Club decided to celebrate, though it was a week late. Zucca had arranged a splendid am with plenty of variety. Ernie with his saxophone, John at the piano, rendered some duets that took well with the boys. Harry Lazarus, always a favorite as a soloist, sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold", and was compelled to respond again and again with encores. Paul really ventured into the field of grand opera when he sang in Italian "The Trumpet of My Heart" from "Il Trovatore". Then there was some more mass singing and a letter from the secretary of the local association of musical organizations, a short address by Zucca, introduction of Kiwanis guests from Poughkeepsie, Albany, Detroit and Rochester, and then there was a little business to attend to.

A request came by Clarence S. Rowland that the Kiwanians build a bungalow dormitory for the Y. M. C. A. boys at Glenerie Camp. Morris Samter, on behalf of the Kingston Lumber Corporation, promised to donate the lumber for one unit on condition that the members of the club do the actual carpenter work. That challenge was vociferously accepted.

It was also voted to send Kiwanians Oscar Brandorff and Clarence S. Rowland as delegates to the convention at Milwaukee, June 23 to 28, with a possible addition of two other delegates. These boys will help make up the six thousand delegates that are expected from eighteen hundred clubs in the United States and Canada who will assemble there in convention. Their attention will be given mainly to increased child welfare work, vocational guidance and placement for students, farm problems (with Governor Lowden as one of the speakers), citizenship, naturalization of immigrants, and general education. O. S. Cummings of Dallas, Texas, president of Kiwanian International, will preside. Other speakers are William R. Riddell, of Toronto, justice of the Supreme court of Ontario, on "Citizenship"; Dr. C. P. Segard of New York city, "Vocational Guidance"; the Rev. Dr. Preston Bradley, of the People's Church, Chicago, will be the speaker at a religious musicale to be given on Sunday evening. United States Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas will speak on "Business Standards". Special trains, automobiles and aeroplanes will carry people to the Schlitz City from all over the country. Incidentally, Kiwanis enters upon its fourteenth year, the local club upon its ninth.

Fine Concert At Newburgh

Several music-loving Kingstonians went to Newburgh on Wednesday evening to hear the Amphion Glee Club concert under the direction of Robert Williams, who is the organist and choir-master of St. John's Church, this city. This club has an active membership of fifty-three men and the concert given Wednesday evening was a rare musical treat from beginning to end as was anticipated from an organization having Mr. Williams as conductor. Every number given by the club had to its credit fine tone quality, clean and carrying enunciation of the words and a most satisfying interpretation.

Of the entire program, however, "Shenandoah," possessed a beautiful organ-quality of tone and poetic interpretation that was outstanding, with "Music When Soft Voices Die," and "The Nun of Nidaros," delightful in a truly musicianly way. Frederick K. Lanford, tenor, was the very pleasing guest soloist who won the hearts of his hearers. At the close of the program in response to the continuing applause, Mr. Williams announced that the club would sing two numbers by request, Brahm's "Lullaby" and "The Bells of St. Mary's," and knowing that Harry P. Dodge of Kingston was in the audience, he called upon Mr. Dodge to conduct the last number, which called forth great applause not only at the announcement but after the thrilling song.

After the concert at the Broadway School a banquet was held at the Y. M. C. A., at which the real guest of honor was Mr. Williams' mother who was given a touching ovation that was very beautiful. Here again Mr. Dodge was called upon to speak and he paid a musician's genuine tribute of merited praise to the Amphion Glee Club and Mr. Williams upon the admirable concert.

May-Day Customs

As far back as the Medieval period in England, Chaucer says, it was customary to go out early on the morning of the first of May, "to fetch the flowers fresh." Hawthorne branches were carried home about sunset amid much merry-making. The name, The May, was given to the hawthorne, and the ceremony was called "the bringing home the May." A relic of the Roman custom when on May day the goddess Flora was especially honored is seen in the selection of a beautiful village maid to be crowned as queen of the May.

The ladies, God bless them, were made to love, but not in plural numberg.

P. O.-Apollo Nine Takes Their First Industrial Game

The P. O.-Apollo broke into the win column Thursday evening at the Athletic Field by coming from behind in the fourth and fifth innings and overcoming a five-run lead to snatch from the K. & M.-Schillings a game, that looked to be already won by them, by a score of 8 to 6. Jack Robins, who ordinarily catches, and Watson Wheeler, a pitcher, reversed positions and it turned out to be a good change after a bad first inning.

Phil Komosa opposed Robins on the mound and was somewhat wild, walking five men and hitting one. He probably would have pulled through, but for the only error committed by his teammates in the fourth inning when Didzik missed a double play by juggling Jordan's grounder.

Robins was headed for the showers in the first inning when he walked two men and allowed four hits, but he managed to stagger through the round and held his opponents in check for the rest of the game except for a brief interval in the fourth inning when he was touched for one run.

In the first inning after Blass was thrown out Merritt hit a single, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. Didzik and Connelly were given free transportation to first base and Pete Komosa singled to send Didzik across the rubber. On the return home of the ball Wheeler missed it and Connelly scored. Williams sent Komosa home with a single and scored later on Banyo's double.

The Po-Los threatened to score in the first three innings, but could not register until the fourth.

Johnson started the inning with a single. Jordan followed with a grounder to Didzik and it looked as though a double play was in store, but Didzik erred, both runners being safe. Wheeler sent Johnson home with the first run by poling a single to left field. After Crispell was put out at first base Robins scored Jordan and Wheeler with a single. He scored later on Schwab's safe hit.

A walk to Phil Komosa and hits by Banyo and Blass netted the K. & M.-Schillings its last run in the fourth.

Komosa issued two passes in the fifth, which coupled with Wheeler's single and Davitt's two-bagger put the Po-Los in the lead.

Ken Williams replaced Komosa in the sixth inning. He didn't allow any hits, but his free passes allowed the Po-Los to score one more run. After Glaser walked he stole second, advanced to third on a passed ball and tallied on a wild pitch.

SIDELINERS.

K. & M.-Schillings had but one error officially, but a few errors of omission.

Harold Johnson has changed his style of batting and has improved wonderfully. He had a perfect average last night.

The strong winds made the fielders miss a few fly balls.

Watson Wheeler kept up his good hitting, getting two hits out of three tries.

Ken Williams made three good catches of fly balls in center field.

K. & M.-Schillings are well supplied with pitchers, having five on their roster.

Tagging Major League Bases

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If the Braves stay up there another month, they may begin to believe that they belong in the first four. At any event, Emil Fuchs seems to have taught the tribe the first principle a team must absorb to escape from the second division—the gentle art of winning the one-run games instead of losing them. His warriors added to the woes of John McGraw yesterday by shading the Giants, 4 to 3 and 5 to 4, in a back bay double-header.

What is more significant, the Braves twice came from behind to nose out McGraw's ambitious seventh-placers, against the inimitable Larry Benton in the opener and against no-hit Carl Hubbell in the tenth round of the nightcap. Hubbell was defeated with two out in the tenth after the Giants had given him a run in their own half. Clark's single through short and doubles by Dugan and Maguire turned the trick.

Young Bruce Cunningham, the Pacific coast boy sent along by the Cubs as a sort of good-measure offering in the Hornsby deal, made his first major league start in the opening game, and refused to be dismayed by his illustrious opponent. Art Delaney had charge of the Boston firing in the second clash, and turned in as fine a game as he has shown since his arrival in the majors.

The Cardinals slipped ahead of the idle Cubs into the league lead by outlasting Pittsburgh in a groggy ten-round melee at Forbes Field. The champions scored one run in the ninth and another in the tenth to pull out the decision by 10 to 9. Almost everybody except Donie Bush and Bill Southworth pitched, and Jim Bottomley hit two home runs.

The Robins rounded out the National League program in their customary manner, losing their ninth straight to the Phillies, 7 to 4. The only unusual item connected with this statement is that Dazzy Vance was on the firing line for Brooklyn. The dazzler was outpitched by Claude (Weeping) Willoughby, who has specialized in outpitching his opponents this season.

Willoughby had the help of two home runs by Frank O'Doul, the former Yankee and Giant, who drove in four runs. Bill Rhiel and Johnny Frederick hit homers for Brooklyn in the ninth at a time when they were interesting but unimportant. O'Doul's circuit drives ran his total to seven, only one fewer than the figure of Melvin Ott, who hit one in the second game at Boston to tie Gehrig for the inter-league lead.

The Cubs and the Reds were idle yesterday.

While the acknowledged contenders in the American League tarried along the exhibition trail yesterday, the Browns and the Tigers improved their standing by turning back western opponents. Alvin Crowder shaded Walter Miller by 1 to 0 in a pitching duel at St. Louis while Owen Carroll turned in a fine game to defeat Al Thomas and the White Sox by 4 to 3 at Detroit.

This dual triumph for the western hopes in Edward Barnard's loop maintained the Browns and the Tigers in a virtual tie, and enabled both to step up to practically even terms with the Yanks, who trail the Athletics by half a game. The champions have won one game fewer than the Macks and have lost the same number. The Browns have won two more and lost two more than the Yankees, and the Tigers have won two more and lost two more than the Browns.

No actual changes in the standing of the first four teams occurred, as the extra defeats for St. Louis and Detroit placed them, in order, a few percentage points behind the Yankees.

55th Running of Kentucky Derby

Louisville, Ky., May 17 (AP).—East and west, north and south will send its blue-blooded horseflesh in quest of the classic three-year-old honors of the American turf tomorrow in the fifty-fifth running of the Kentucky Derby.

If, as expected, a score of thoroughbreds go to the post around 5 p. m., central standard time, the race will be worth $64,000, of which approximately $54,000 will go to the victor in the struggle of speed, stamina and courage over a route of one mile and a quarter.

The weather prospects are dubious, with the possibility it will be a fine day for the mud-runners, but, rain or shine, heavy going or fast, the experts predict a "horse race" and the promoters expect a notable throng of upwards of 75,000 to jam the picturesque Churchill Downs.

Millions more are expected to tune in on the thrills of America's most colorful turf classic over a record radio hook-up for the Derby, arranged by the National Broadcasting Company and its associated stations.

Derby day is Kentucky's day of days. Where England has a national institution in its own Derby and France has its fashionably brilliant Grand Prix at Longchamps, the blue grass region has its horse race. All the color, the picturesque gathering, the blend of old traditions clings to this half-century old event but, after all, it is a horse race. No one mingling in the throngs on street corners, in the hotels, everywhere, is allowed to forget it. This year, as seldom before, Louisville has drawn the pilgrimage of the faithful, not only from its own hills and towns, but from far and wide.

Fast Program of Bouts Slated at Armory Tonight

Everything is ready for the 36-round card of fights to be held tonight at the armory. The battlers are on edge to get going and from all indications the scraps will be worthy of being listed among the best ringside programs ever put on at the local drill shed.

According to reservations made, the patronage will be equal to that attracted by the Coffey-Konchina affair and other outstanding attractions staged at the armory recently. And it is predicted that the bleachers will be jammed, so those who contemplate sitting on them to see the bouts are advised to be at the armory early.

Following are the bouts scheduled for tonight:

Feature 10 Rounds.

Jimmy Doyle of New York vs. Ray Halverson of Newburgh.

Semi-Final 8 Rounds.

Nick Zinna of this city vs. Willie Bunn of Utica.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, May 16—Those who listened in on Sunday evening to the broadcasting of the program of the Utica Jubilee Singers were treated to a real surprise by addresses made by two West African chieftains and native music furnished by an Algerian tom-tom orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Scudder, Jr., of Kingston are frequent visitors at their summer home at West Shokan Heights.

The road repair crew are spreading gravel along the High Point road. All trust their operations will continue until the boulevard at Dwyer's Corners has been reached. A new and enlarged sluiceway is very much needed at the foot of the hill below Michael Dwyer's as the present one is of inadequate capacity to carry off the water.

Invitations are being received by the parents of the high school pupils to be present at the May Day exercises to be held on Friday on the high school grounds in Kingston.

Julian Eckert was employed with his team on the Jordan farm one day recently.

Perch are now biting in the reservoir which is attracting the attention of local fishermen. Nice catches are being made of these edible members of the finny tribe.

Several local farmers are making an attempt to get their oats sowed this week.

The Jordan Brothers of Brodhead purchased 300 chicks from the Kerr Hatchery of Frenchtown, N. J., which are reported to be growing rapidly.

Professor Foster and pupils went on a nature study jaunt on Monday afternoon. The present form of nature study seems to be an outgrowth of the Junior Naturalist Clubs started about twenty-five years ago. One of these clubs was organized by the older scholars of the West Shokan school in 1925, the charter or certificate of which now adorns the walls of the school house memento of those who were enrolled among the local beginners in this now regular course of study.

William Jones is doing some interior painting for Mrs. Minnie Smith.

Orville Barber is considerably under the weather from a large boil on his arm and the after effects of the removal of several troublesome teeth.

Charles H. Weidner, proprietor of the Hickory Hill Poultry Farm, was a Kingston business visitor on Tuesday.

Chester A. Lyons of the Ashokan Garage made a trip to the Chevrolet factory at Tarrytown on Tuesday. Owing to the inability of having a truck body installed he was obliged to remain over night, the return trip being made on Wednesday.

Miss Florence Kelder is suffering from an abscess which has formed in the roof of her mouth, and has been unable to partake of any solid foods for nearly a week, and consequently has lost several pounds in weights. She is undergoing treatment by Dr. Pace of Phoenicia, and at the present time is unable to attend studies in Kingston.

The big Griffin trucks from Roxbury are seen daily on their trips to and from Kingston.

Lawrance Kelder of Roselle, N. J., paid his relatives an unexpected visit over the week end, making the trip in his Buick sedan.

Miss Evelyn Lightner, who has with her mother spent several summer vacations at the home of Mrs. Addie Kelder, has met a deep misfortune in the recent death of her father which occurred on May 2.

James Tweedy of Brodhead Heights was a Kingston visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. Shepard Bell in a quiet manner on Tuesday celebrated her 71st birthday. She was the recipient of many greetings from her host of friends.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Bell of Ashokan extend their greetings and well wishes for health, prosperity and a long and happy married life.

After reading in The Freeman of olden days at Twaalfskill, an old timer of the prosperous days of Watson Hollow becomes reminiscent. He states that the road was lined with teams traveling to and from Watson Hollow and the Wilbur docks. Vast quantities of lumber and heading were hauled from the mills of Watson Hollow, the teams generally returning laden with groceries, hogheads of molasses and supplies of all kinds. Colonel White had a number of these teams on the road. One of the favorite songs of the drivers, especially when in a happy frame of mind on the return trips was something along these lines:

Old Colonel, Old Colonel, I think you real mean.
To send me down to the river, with a twenty shilling team.
With eyes that are blind, windbroken and besides.
They have no hair on their tails behind

Teams were constantly hauling finished leather from the big Watson tannery and bringing up green salted hides to go through the tanning process. During the time of bark peeling in June great gangs of workmen were engaged in cutting the virgin hemlock trees which covered the mountains, peeling off the bark, which was ranked up in piles like cord wood, then left to dry and later hauled down to the tannery yard and stored under the bark sheds for future use. Behold, what a change time has wrought. After the burning of the Watson tannery the heart was taken out of the Hollow, the lumbering business gradually subsided as the supply of timber was depleted. Now scarce a trace remains except ruins and the memories of those striving times so indelibly implanted in the minds of the thinning ranks of those sturdy old timers.

One can now see more of the wonders of the magic touch of nature each day. The maples are coming into their full foliage, the dogwoods and lilacs in their bloom of flowery beauty, and the luxuriant meadows green, speckled with golden dandelions, all reflect the touch of the Divine artist.

The recent rains are retarding the operations of local farmers, who are desirous of getting their oats sown and potatoes planted. However, the Good Book says that in due time we shall reap, if we faint not.

Earl McRoberts recently here by auto from Detroit, stated that it was indeed disheartening to see the great celery and vegetable growing sections between Rochester and Syracuse flooded with water, and the farmers in a state bordering despair.

Mr. and Mrs. Case G. Gwinn of Woodridge, N. J., are among the guests who have engaged week-end accommodations at the Burgher House.

The Ladies' Aid met for a quilting on Wednesday at the church basement.

The presence of Mrs. Hannah Davis was welcomed at the church service on Sunday after an all winter's absence due to sickness.

If you are not satisfied with your lot, build on it.

A prize of $5 had been offered by Mrs. Russell to the P.-T. A. which had the largest attendance of officers at council meetings for the year. No. 6 and No. 7 were tied, each having 45 per cent, so it was decided to give $5 to each association.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, May 17 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)

The season's first carload of California cantaloupes arrived here today. The shipment consisted of approximately 19,350 cantaloupes. The fruit as a whole showed excellent quality but had a rather slow sale, doubtless due to the high prices. Wholesale business on standard crates containing 45 cantaloupes was at principally $15.00 a crate.

Although the plantings in the Imperial Valley of California were greatly increased, the indicated yield per acre is less than last year, so that the crop is forecast at 6,521,000 standard crates, as against 6,224,000 in 1928.

Florida, Georgia and the lower valley of Texas together expect 115,000 crates or 15,000 more than last season.

Intended plantings of cantaloupes and similar melons in nine late-shipping states are 20,010 acres, or only a little more than in 1928. Colorado likely will reduce its plantings to 7,500 acres, but New Jersey may increase sharply to 4,250 acres.

Low prices featured the market on Virginia cabbage. Supplies here again far in excess of trade. One and one-half bushel hampers of the Wakefield variety jobbed out at 65 @ 85 cents at commission merchants' stores but on the railroad piers sales were reported at 40 @ 60 cents.

Receipts of western New York apples were limited again. The demand was quite active and values further strengthened. United States Grade No. 1, 2½ inch Baldwins peddled out at 6.50 @ $7 per barrel and chiefly at $2.25 a bushel basket.

On May 1 there remained in commercial cold storage plants about 317,000 barrels, 2,231,000 boxes and 588,000 bushel baskets of apples. Holdings under refrigeration were 10 per cent less than those of a year ago and 20 per cent below the average figure for May 1.

The supply of apples in barrels was 21 per cent greater than last spring, but nearly 50 per cent less than the average for the past five years. Boxed apples had been moved rapidly and the remaining stocks were 23 per cent below the total on May 1, 1928, and 12 per cent below average. Bushel baskets were more abundant than in recent seasons. The May holdings in baskets were 25 per cent above last spring's figure and nearly 50 per cent greater than the average May supply of basket stock.

Making One Market of Many

The voice of the peddler has been heard in the highways and marts of the world since before Babylon.

This age-old method of merchandising was a first step towards a modern marvel. It was a stirring of that ingenuity which would bring men within speaking distance of the far market as well as the near.

Today it is no "far cry" from merchant to mart. Nor need wares be hawked at random to obtain a chance customer. Quietly, easily, the voice of the salesman reaches the ear of his chosen prospect—by telephone.

Whether in the same neighborhood or separated by miles, seller and buyer meet as if over desk or counter. Trade is transacted with the speed and satisfaction of the personal call.

Making one market of many, New York State's telephone system is the daily meeting ground of a large part of the producing and consuming public—a market which increases in importance with the addition of 165,000 or more new telephones each year.

Parachute Jumps Over Week End

Weather permitting, parachute jumps will be made on Saturday and Sunday evenings at Powell Field, just across the viaduct, by Eric Lindgren, who pleased large gatherings last week end with his daring feats. There will be several passenger carrying planes at the field. Morning, afternoon and evening flights may be taken by those desiring to ride.

The Catskill Mountain Airways has a new demonstrating ship at the Powell Field. The Catskill Airways are the distributors for the Waco aircrafts for Ulster and Sullivan counties, the plane being one of the most popular in the United States. The demonstrating plane is open for inspection and sightseeing purposes for passengers to New York or nearby points. Students desiring to learn flying can register their request at the Powell Field. The Catskill Airways uses Pan-Am gasoline and oils exclusively.

Cumbersome Old Vessels

Galleon was a name formerly given to a large kind of vessel with three masts and three or four decks, such as those used by the Spaniards in their commerce with South America to transport precious metals. They were large, clumsy, square-sterned vessels, having bulwarks three or four feet thick, all of which were so encumbered with tophamper and so overweighted in proportion to their draft of water that they could bear little canvas, even with smooth seas and light winds.

Porcupine Shown to Be Much Maligned Animal

One of the most misconceived denizens of the woods and one about which has been woven many a fantastic tale is the porcupine.

It is the marksman of the forest, as the story goes—the bowman that shoots barbed arrows at those it sees fit to attack. One in imagination can almost see a cloud of quills winging their way toward some enemy, ready to pierce any unprotected skin and, once beneath the skin, presenting the problem of the fish-hook imbedded in a luckless angler's finger. It has the reputation of belligerency of the two-gun man, swaggering around, spoiling at any luckless person who chances to get in the way.

If ever a more unfair picture of the character of an animal has been painted, a grave injustice has been done. The porcupine, as a matter of fact, is mostly intent on minding its own business and hopes that other animals will do the same. It is not particularly afraid of any others, knowing, as the skunk does, that it will not be attacked by any but the very young, and the very young soon learn that a good defense is a wonderful offense, reversing the usual strategy.

Many animals, including horses and other domestic animals, frequently act as if they had a premonition of coming storm. Apparently their instincts are so highly developed that they are sensitive to slight changes in the atmosphere not noticed by human beings.

Lilli Lehmann, Noted Singer, Dies

Berlin, May 17 (AP).—Lilli Lehmann, famous opera singer, died today. She was 81.

During the last quarter of the nineteenth century Lilli Lehmann was one of the most powerful operatic magnets of two continents.

She was an outstanding star in years when the musical drama stage boasted of such great artists as Lillian Nordica, Minnie Hauk, Marcella Sembrich, Emma Eames and Emma Juch among prima donnas, and Albert Niemann, Max Alvary, Jean and Edouard De Reszke, Paul Plancon and Victor Maurel among the male singers.

It was on her 50th birthday anniversary that world attention was again directed to the great career of this former queen of the opera stage. She had disappeared from the public eye since she responded to her last curtain call more than 25 years before and, with new heroes and new heroines to claim the plaudits of a new opera public, the great Lehmann was all but forgotten.

Her arrival at the four-score year post of life not only recalled Frau Lehmann's American and European triumphs of by-gone years, but disclosed that she was continuing her musical career. It never had been interrupted. When she had made her last public appearance she turned from the stage to the studio and there, just as conscientiously as she had devoted herself to her numerous roles, she sought to train young singers to maintain the high standard of opera she knew.

This Frank Decade

Mary Elizabeth has just started to dancing school and on the occasion of her second or third lesson her mother, sitting by as an interested spectator, was glad to see that she and her boy partner seemed to be holding a conversation. "What were you and Jimmie talking about?" she asked when the little girl joined her after the dance. "Oh, just talking," evaded the youngster. "Well, what did Jimmie say," persisted the mother. "He said, 'Gee, you're a rotten dancer,'" revealed Mary Elizabeth. "Oh!" cried the stricken parent, thinking her daughter would be offended. "What did you say to that, honey?" "I said," replied the child, calmly, "'Say, you're not so good yourself.'"

Hindu Theological Idea

There are many different conceptions in Hindu theology as to the origin of the first man and woman. The most general conception is that originally there descended upon the earth one lesser god who split into the male and female element. Under this theory Yami, the wife of Yama, was the independent self-poised sister, twin to Yama.

Strange Dispensation

Why doth Fate, that often bestows thousands of souls on a conqueror or tyrant, to be the sport of his passions, so often deny the tenderest and most feeling hearts one kindred one on which to lavish their affections? Why is it that Love must so often sigh in vain for an object, and Hate cover?—Richter.

KNIFE LOST IN WAR RETURNED TO OWNER

Veteran Recovers Souvenir After Ten Years.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"Returned to owner after ten years by Curtis E. Richardson, assistant cashier, Hammond, La. Best wishes."

These few words written on a small business card and attached to the hilt of a hunting knife were received by Dr. F. J. Nalbert recently, and thereby hangs a tale.

It all happened in the A. E. F. First division battle sector in France in March of 1918. While directing the destinies of American raiding parties, First Lieut. F. J. Nalbert was wounded and was sent back to the hospital. At the same time he lost a prized hunting knife used as a trench knife. He mourned its loss along with that of several medals won in state and interstate shooting matches. But the knife was apparently lost forever and Doctor Nalbert had forgotten the incident.

But after more than a decade Doctor Nalbert's blade has come back to his hands again after a series of epic adventures. Mr. Richardson, who was a first lieutenant in the field artillery of the First division at that time, had found the knife at a town known as Treveray and had held it for more than ten years before he found the owner.

Letter Tells Story.

On March 6, Doctor Nalbert received the following letter from Mr. Richardson:

"It may surprise you to receive this letter but I feel it will be a pleasant one if you are the man I am looking for. During the war I was stationed in a town called Treveray in the department of Meuse, France, for some time, and while there I found a hunting knife with your name on it, which was being shipped to Dijon with a quantity of salvaged supplies. I have had this knife in my possession ever since and have used it every year in my deer hunting expeditions. I suppose I have skinned 20 or 25 deer with it, but I have decided to try and locate the owner and return it to him for a souvenir."

The letter went on to explain some of the writer's experiences in France and closed with a request to notify him if Doctor Nalbert was the rightful owner. Mr. Richardson had written a letter to the War depatment requesting Doctor Naibert's address and the letter was forwarded to Doctor Nalbert, who immediately communicated with Mr. Richardson and the above letter was received. Doctor Nalbert wrote immediately and acknowledged ownership of the knife.

A few days later he received the weapon still encased in its leather sheath bearing his name and a letter, parts of which follow:

"So you are the owner of that knife after all. Well! Well! I'm glad they didn't list you as missing or words to that effect.

"I wish that I could give you more information regarding your medals, but I am afraid that all I can give will be a clew for you to make the most of. Here is the whole story:

Tells His Story.

"In late March of 1918, I was just out of the hospital with the mumps and they needed some one to go up in what is known as the First Divisional area and look after affairs between the A. E. F. and the French.

"I found all that stuff belonging to the First division stored all over the country, and I didn't see how they were going to use it again, but I was ordered by G. H. Q. to see that it was all properly reissued. A Lieutenant Stevens of the Q. M. C. was sent in to do the salvage work.

"He brought in about ten or twelve men with him, and then the dirty work started. He tore everything apart, clothing, barracks, bags, trunks, lockers, desks, and all that stuff the First division had stored in the section. I think that there were a good many cars of material sent to Dijon and a lot more sent to Is-Sur-Tille. I naturally saw a lot of this work going on and have a faint recollection of Stevens talking about medals and such personal property of the officers, but of course I had nothing direct to do with it, and I am not sure.

"You should have seen some of the stuff that those birds had in their barracks bags. Talk about your souvenirs. I saw more trash that was destroyed than I thought could be saved up by an entire army. I remember that there was a barrel of .45 automatics that had never been issued, and the entire army was looking around for them. There were field glasses, compasses and instruments of all kinds. I suppose that your medals went with the bunch."

Mr. Richardson returned home and a short time ago decided to find the owner of the knife. Now, with high hopes, Doctor Nalbert is starting a quest by mail and otherwise for Lieutenant Stevens in an attempt to locate his missing shooting contest medals!

California Scientist Backs Boy's Ability

Berkeley, Calif.—Until now scientists have believed that subnormal boys outnumbered subnormal girls. Prof. Olga Bridgman, psychologist and pediatrician at the University of California medical school, has found the opposite to be true. She has completed an intelligence survey of 3,675 boys and girls of subnormal intelligence, ranging between dullness and idiocy, the results of which were announced recently.

Memorial Will Be Blessed Sunday

At 10:30 o'clock next Sunday morning, in the Church of the Holy Cross, a richly carved and polychromed font cover will be blessed in memory of the late Elisabeth Forde Groves, the loving gift of her children. The cover takes the form of a flèche, or spire, and towers over the font six and one-half feet. It is pierced carving, in water lilies and symbols of the Holy Spirit, and is surmounted by an angel. The work is in harmony with the many other enrichments which have been placed in Holy Cross Church during recent years, and is the product of the studios of Angelo Lualdi in Cambridge, Mass., one of the greatest of living wood carvers. It is the first unit of the beautification of the Holy Cross Baptistry. The designs further call for a credence and prie-dieu done in the same manner. The Rev. Gregory Mabry, rector of the parish, will officiate at the dedication Sunday.

Rapid Hose Hold Gay Celebration

Receiving of New Fire Truck Fittingly Celebrated by Rapids—Speeches, Entertainment and Refreshments.

Rapid Hose Company of Hone street elaborately celebrated the receiving of their new truck, a Chevrolet, Thursday night when Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey and other prominent officials were present to make the event successful. Not alone did the refreshment committee shine, but the entertainment furnished by members of the Rapid Hose minstrel cast made a big hit.

Mayor Dempsey, who is a member of Rapid Hose Company, congratulated his brother firemen for their wonderful spirit and Fire Commissioners L. Kaplan, C. Mullen and H. Walker joined with the mayor in paying their compliments. C. Ray Everett, alderman at large, and a member of the Rapids, with City Clerk George Moore were other officials present at the "blow out". And of course Louis Kolts, former fire commissioner, who is one of Kingston's most ardent volunteer firemen and a man known in every hose company of the city, was among the honored guests.

After plenty of "eats" and soda had been relished by the firemen and those invited to the event, Eddie Barton and his minstrel boys, who are to stage the Rapid Hose minstrel show in Kingston High School auditorium on May 27 and 28, furnished plenty of fun.

The Strut Family, put on by Barton, Johnny Doolin and Zeke Boss, and which is to be a feature act of the minstrel, proved one of the hits of the evening, while solos by Chief Joseph L. Murphy, by request, and Roger Keough's dancing came in for loud applause. Harry Mainschelder was the accompanist.

The mayor, fire commissioners and other officials left the party at an early hour regretting that they had a limited time to spend with the Rapids, but departed with words that will tend to keep the fire laddies proud of their new truck at all times. Chief Murphy and Deputy Chief Fred Leverich gave the firemen some helpful hints in talks about the apparatus.

The British girl's margin of victory was three up and one to play, the match ending when Miss Wethered won the 35th hole. The American girl started home with a pair of threes, reducing her opponent's margin from four up to two up but she was not able to reduce it more during the final eight holes.

Prexy Has Much to Learn

A college president says the young man's most difficult problem is choosing the right girl to marry. Which proves that the prexy has funny ideas as to who does the choosing.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 17 (AP)—Favorable developments in the credit situation provided the background for a general advance in prices in today's stock market. Buying orders were distributed over a fairly broad list, a sprinkling of high-priced specialties [illegible] to nearly 15 points, while a long line of industrials and public utilities moved up one to five points. A score or more of issues moved into new high ground for the year.

Printers Absolved of Charge of Irreverence

An average layman, fairly familiar with his Bible, hastily opened the Good Book to verify the statement of the Literary Digest's lexicographer that in the Scriptures the personal pronoun representing our Lord did not begin with a capital letter. To his surprise, the learned doctor was right. And if the reader turned back to the Old Testament, he discovered also that the pronouns referring to God were in the same style. The reason for this, the lexicographer explains, is that early-day printshops had inadequate upper cases (capitals) and that the rule was invoked, not because of a lack of reverence, but of necessity. So far as we know, Bible publishers are the only printers who have remained true to this tradition. Certainly there are few, if any, newspapers that do not use the upper case first letter in a pronoun referring to Christ or God.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Oddest Radio Station in Virginia Graveyard

There are many strange radio stations in the world, but one of the strangest, perhaps, is the station that is located in a graveyard. The redeeming feature of the whole thing is the fact that it is not a human but a ship graveyard.

Anchored in the James river near Fort Eustis, Va., are some 200 ships of the Emergency Fleet corporation. Built for use in the time of the war and now of no use to the government, they are tied up awaiting sale, or death by decay. Tied up in 10 units of 20 ships each, they spread out over this historic river for some five miles.

When the high winds blow down the river the boats occasionally break away from their units and go drifting down the river, a menace to navigation. Also, when the high winds blow, the little land phone line that runs to Yorktown is carried away. It is in times like this that the radio station, which is located on the flagship of the fleet, comes into operation. A call is sent to the navy yard at Newport News and tugs are dispatched to return the refractory boat to the fold.

Even in calm weather the transmitter gets an occasional workout by transmitting messages received by phone from the Yorktown mine depot to the navy yard. Fort Eustis, near which this peculiar little station is located, is also the home base of the only railway artillery unit in the United States army.

Catfish Peculiar

Catfishes are called catfishes because they have feelers on the head, like cats' "smellers." They have no scales, their bodies being naked and smooth, or mailed with long plates. The different species vary in size from dwarfs two inches long to six feet giants. The stone-cats and the madtoms, seldom more than three inches long, sting painfully, but not dangerously. Only a few fossil catfishes have been found. The present scaleless members of the group evidently come from scaly ancestors. The peculiarities that distinguish them are caused by specilization of some parts and by degeneration of other parts.

Swedes Made History

Sweden's international relations were kept alive by the contact between the home country and Swedish emigrants and settlers abroad. Thus in the year 375 Swedes penetrated as far south as the Black sea and founded an Austro-Gothian dominion. Others settled on the British islands and in Normandy. Headed by the great statesman and warrior, Rurik, one group went east across the Baltic and founded the empire of Russia, named after the coast district of Roslagen, near Stockholm, whence came its founders.

Old American College

Dartmouth college at Hanover, N. H., is an outgrowth of a school founded at Lebanon, Conn., by Eleazar Wheelock for the Christian education of Indian youth. Funds raised in England and contributed largely by Lord Dartmouth enabled Wheelock to move 150 miles to the Hanover plain, five miles north of the junction of the Connecticut and White rivers, and so allowed him to enlarge the scope of his work. The province of New Hampshire gave a charter to the new Dartmouth college in 1769.

History of the Diamond

India was the original home of the diamond as a jewel. For centuries India remained the sole source of Europe's diamond supply. About 1730 diamonds were discovered in Brazil. In 1867 diamonds were discovered in South Africa. South African diamonds constitute more than 90 per cent of the world's supply. From their discovery to the present time they have yielded 90,000,000 carats. The diamonds of the world probably represent a value of $5,000,000,000.

FOR those who like to be out and going—top down—nothing but blue skies above—Nash designers built three smart "400" Cabriolets.

With the top up and windows raised, they are luxurious closed cars—with the top down and windows either down or up, they are smart open cars. All have a big, comfortable, roomy rumble seat.

The Standard Six Cabriolet is one of the most popular cars in its price field, because it combines the smart open-enclosed motoring vogue with Standard Six performance superiority.

It has a big, high compression, 7-bearing motor for power and speed—"400" steering for the world's easiest driving—Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, for cushioned smoothness over all kinds of roads.

The Special and Advanced Six Cabriolets are distinguished by such "400" features as the new Twin-Ignition motor, Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication—press a pedal, your car is oiled—Lovejoy and Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers.

And, every "400" model comes from the factory equipped with bumpers, hydraulic shock absorbers, spare tire lock and tire cover, at no extra cost. Some dealers, charge as much as $50 or $60 extra for bumpers alone.

Compare these Cabriolets to others, then compare their fully equipped, delivered prices. You'll see the advantage in buying a Nash!

Delivered, Fully Equipped, Price Range on 23 Nash "400" Models, $970.00 to $2302.00.

Hotel Refuses to Serve Ice in Rooms

Chicago, May 17 (AP).—The merry tinkle of ice cubes being stirred with ginger ale or mineral water—and, perhaps less legal liquids—no longer will be heard in guest rooms of the world's largest hotel, The Stevens.

The hotel management has decided to forbid the serving of ice or set-ups in rooms. Ice water still will be obtainable—but without ice.

This drastic rule of The Stevens was preceded a few days by similar restrictions on room service at other hotels. At the Morrison, the guest who has ginger ale, mineral water, or ice taken to his room is placed on his honor not to use them for mixing alcholic drinks. He must sign a pledge card on the delivery of his order.

Other hotels, including the Drake, Blackstone, and LaSalle, have adopted similar but less drastic rules.

The hotels' actions followed a warning several days ago that the government would institute padlock proceedings against private clubs, hotels, and similar institutions unless drinking were forbidden and stopped on their premises.

Memorial Day Joint Meeting

Mayor Dempsey has called a meeting of the city-wide joint Memorial Day committee for Monday evening, May 20, at 8 o'clock, in the American Legion Memorial Building. The Mayor asks that all committees be present at this meeting and that all the various patriotic, fraternal and civic organizations send representatives.

If present plans work out, Memorial Day will be observed more appropriately and more extensively than ever before. The Memorial parade will probably be the largest ever held in the city. There is still lots of room for many other organizations to parade and those wishing to honor the memory of the nation's soldier and sailor dead by parading are asked to get in touch with Major John R. Hiltebrant, the grand marshal.

A great many cut or potted flowers are still needed for the decoration of the graves of Civil War veterans. Those wishing to contribute flowers are asked to call Mrs. Robert Lissom, 164 O'Neil street, whose telephone call is 2904J.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Whenever a man comes to the conclusion that he is indispensible then he isn't.

Two's company, three's more than a rumble seat full.

So live that you wouldn't be ashamed to sell the family parrot to the town gossip.

You can tell a civilized country. Most of the factories are making things to please the ladies.

This is the time of year when we can call our laziness spring fever, and get away with it.

The hand that rocks the cradle doesn't show any nicotine stain.

Charity—"Will you donate something to the Old Ladies' Home?"
Generosity—"With pleasure; help yourself to my mother-in-law."

Friends may come and friends may go but critics go on forever.

Great works are performed, not by strength, but by perseverance.

Household expenses are high these days, but if you want to experience a real jolt, just try a few days of travel.

"Where in the world did you get that horrible necktie?"
"The laugh's on you. You gave it to me last Christmas."

Prohibition seems to be abolishing booze in about the same way that the League of Nations has abolished war.

Many a man has filled a premature grave because he did more than his part in putting down whiskey.

I'm hard-boiled. See? I sleep on a bed of cactus. I sandpaper de dirt off me mug. I uses resin for chewin' gum. I drinks tobacco sauce. I look holes through steel. I'd go out an' paint the town red right now, but me wife might get mad.

Another thing that makes winter dreary is the fact that people in the barber shop now discuss dress patterns instead of the next pennant winner.

"Have you ever suspected your wife of leading a double life?"
"Continually—her own and mine."

Speaking of Knees.

When the hard wind blows,
The girlie shows
Nature bestows
Her knocks or bows.

Do not be breakin' a shin on a tool that's not in your way.

Shopper: "My husband asked me to get him a saw, but I can't remember what kind."
Hardware Man: "Was it a rip, crosscut, panel, flooring, ice, interchangeable, pruning, dehorning, keyhole, back, butcher, compass, hack —?"
Shopper: "Hack! hack saw is the kind. I knew it had some old-fashioned name."

It's a wise man who "no's" his own child.

The latest club for men is known as the "Manicure Club." It is a place where the men sit up nearly all night trying to better each other's hands.

Evils cure themselves, and the style that produces girl bandits tends to styles that soon will leave no place to hide a pistol.

Zavin Melik Sings Before Notables

In Recital Given Last Week at Adams Memorial Hall in New York—Started His Career in Kingston.

By F. A. Clowzay

New York, May 17 (Special to The Freeman).—Zavin Melik, Armenian tenor, formerly of St. James street, Kingston, entertained a large audience last week in a recital given at Adams Memorial Hall, New York city. A great many of Armenian notables were present to hear the young singer, including the Very Rev. Tirayr, Archbishop of Armenians in North and South America; H. Avakian, editor of "Gotchnag"; Zabelle Aram, opera star, and Mihran Serailian, noted Armenian painter.

Mr. Melik gave three groups of songs including lyric and dramatic selections. The singer showed his versatility in rendering selections in Russian, Armenian, and English. While his natural talent held his audience rapt throughout the performance, it was perhaps through his Russian songs, including the "Two Grenadiers" and the "Song of the Volga Boatman" that the singer's dramatic personality was best expressed. He was encored several times and received signal praise from members of his audience, following the program.

Zavin Melik is known to Kingston audiences. He has sung at Kingston High School, where he was a student, and in the Kingston theatres. His career has been meteoric and due solely to an unquenchable desire to share his unusual voice with music lovers everywhere.

Music critics on the New York newspapers have predicted an operatic career for this youthful singer. His mature personality, natural bass voice, charming stage presence, and his love for singing combine to place him immediately in the ranks of professional singers, and this despite the fact that he has had no academic training. Melik has a great many friends in Kingston and vicinity, as well as in New York, who are watching closely his progress in the field of music.

His success last week in the recital given for his own countrymen will be shared by the friends he made during his sojourn in Kingston.

FORTUNE-TELLING CRAFT THRIVES AS NEVER BEFORE

"Gypsy Princess" Reveals Secrets of How She Reads Clothes, Faces and Minds.

New York.—Educators, pastors, writers and sociologists will tell you that this is the most enlightened generation in history. And yet the ancient craft of the fortune-teller is flourishing as never before, and there are more of us anxious to believe what the "gypsy" finds in the tea cup, or the "mystic" in the crystal globe.

This is true in New York and throughout the country, according to "Princess Karina," who admits she was born in an Ohio village of native English parents, but who, none the less, is one of the most prosperous of the "gypsy" fortune-telling clan, with a nation-wide reputation.

The "Princess" reveals her story in the North American Review, admitting blandly that the tea leaves, which she "reads" for as many as 100 customers a day in a fashionable tea shop, mean nothing to her, or to anyone else.

"The leaves? They are really not much more than the stage properties for a private demonstration of practical psychology," she says. "They would badly cramp my style if I took them seriously. I now really read nothing but faces and hands, manners and mannerisms, and the many small details of dress and personality.

"My story is always one of encouragement, of hope, of a future worth living for. They want to believe it, even though they affect to be amused by it. Moreover, I give them good advice, or I think I do."

Women's clothes, she asserts, give the fortune-teller her best lead. "I know what is quietly expensive and what is dressy but cheap. I can see at a glance the signs of careful economy. The stenographer's costume identifies her as distinctly as though she wore a uniform and so does that of the home-body out on a shopping spree. The careful observer can immediately identify the school teacher, the office girl, the housewife, the woman of leisure without asking questions. All are subtly stamped with signs of their calling."

In the same way faces are easily read for evidence of contentment, unhappiness, suspicion, ambition and other points of character, her North American Review article shows. Putting these deductions together with the facts revealed by her client's dress, by her conversation and that of her frequent companions, it is relatively easy for the fortune-teller to place her, determine her state of mind and tell her the optimistic things which every one wishes to believe—and which, "Princess Karina" argues, always do more good than harm.

Only One More Chance To See the MAGIC LOOM

TOMORROW—until 9 P. M.—is the last day to see the Magic Loom in operation! Hundreds have already seen it weaving the famous Whittall "Anglo-Persian" Wiltons, here, this week, and have marveled at its performance. You are earnestly urged to see this exhibit. Be sure to bring the children—especially those of school age. There's much to learn—for both grownups and youngsters.

Mr. Henry Coley, Whittall representative, is here to receive you and answer all questions pertaining to rug making.
